BUFFALO AND WESTERN NEW YORK POULTRY ASSOCIATION SHOW By Bill Ziehm, Secty.

Sunday May 17, 1992, was the date of the Buffalo and Western New York Poultry Association Annual Show, held at the Genesee County fairgrounds located at Batavia, New York.

Due to relocation of the show and today's declining economy we had a considerable drop in our entries. This, however, did not take away any enthusiasm of our exhibitors or the quality of the birds shown. Thanks to all the fine people who supported us. A special thanks to our sister clubs Rochester and Batavia for their help.

Some of the Champions: Champion Large Fowl - Bill Huffard - Light Brahma Cockerel. Reserve Champion Large Fowl - S. Robert Powell - S.C. Black Minorca Hen. Champion Bantam - Zellner Livestock - Dark Cornish Cock. Reserve Champion Bantam - Rick Hare - Black Rosecomb Cock. Champion Waterfowl - Art Lundgren - White Call Drake. Reserve Champion Waterfowl - Art Lundgren - Gray Call Hen.

Now I would like to apologize to all for the lateness of the report. Having had many projects this summer, just haven't had the time to put this together. Many hours go into planning, running, and finishing show reports. Here's hoping you all have a great fall showing season. See you all I hope at the Ohio National on November 13-14-15, 1992. But most of all, thanks for showing with us!

September 30, 1992

Dear Client,

On September 29, 1992, Sears, Roebuck and Co. announced plans to sell up to 20% of the Dean Witter Financial Services Group Inc. ("DWFG") to the public in the first quarter of 1993. The sale will be followed by a spin-off of the remaining 80% of DWFG shares to Sears shareholders. As a result, the Dean Witter Financial Services Group will become a publicly-owned company. It will consist of Dean Witter, the securities company, Discover Card, SPS Transaction Services, Inc., Sears Consumer Financial Corp. and Prime Option Services.

I endorse these actions taken by our parent because we believe they benefit Dean Witter clients, Sears shareholders and Sears, Roebuck and Co. Going forward, we at Dean Witter remain committed to providing you with service excellence and dedicated to helping you achieve your financial goals. We will continue to follow our conservative management philosophy which is based on our heritage of always putting the interests of our clients first. These principles have endured through the years and have served our clients well since our founding in 1924.

I also want to assure you that the assets you have entrusted to us are safe and secure. By any measure, Dean Witter is among the most well capitalized firms in the securities industry today. As the enclosed Statement of Financial Condition indicates, as of July 31, 1992 Dean Witter's net capital is $449 million in excess of the minimum requirement set forth by the Securities and Exchange Commission for securities firms.

I will be communicating with you as further details of the initial public offering of the Dean Witter Financial Services Group become available. If you have any questions regarding this transaction, please feel free to contact your Dean Witter Account Executive. In closing, we greatly value your relationship with us, and look forward to continuing to serve your investment needs.

Sincerely yours,

[John Pierce] 10/8/92 1141

Dear John —

The Cobleskill show sent me the enclosed RB ribbon from the RIR Club of America. It must belong to you. Wasn't your S.C. RIR Cockerel Reserve of Breed at Cobleskill?

This weekend & show at Berke; then Garden State on the 17-18th; York on the 24-25th; and then Columbus. It's a wonderful time of year.

Sincerely,
Robert

10-11-92 - 845 P.M.

I will never show at the Bake Show again. Too much politics. It's the same every year. Elton Minnick & Tom Burr and Corn. Bacon are pale, and Elton very conspicuously placed Burr's and Bacon's birds over better birds. Many people were outraged. at least a half dozen people came up to me and told me that my Rose Comb Rhode Island Red cockerel should have been "Champion American" and more. He was passed over by Elton for a sooty Banded Rock cock owned by Tom Burr. a beat up old Buff orpington placed over my two black females and they (mine) were clearly better birds. Similar tales of favoritism and insider politics at Derby could be cited ad nauseum.

Every year the show gets smaller and worse. Today's show was the worst pony show that I have ever shown in. My inclination is to write a trenchant epistle to the show's management and vent my spleen—but I won't, because that would be fatal. I would be black-balled for daring to have a personal opinion on their show. Much could be said. Rather, what I will do is join the ranks of those exhibitors who will never show at the Berks Poultry Fanciers' Show in Reading. Won, lost or draw, it makes no difference, as long as the best bird wins, which never happens at Reading.

Elton Minnick is the main source of the problem, of course.

It pains me that he has been lined up as the 3rd judge at Hartford.

October 11, 1992

Dear Berks Poultry Fanciers Association:

Crooked judging makes a few people very happy, but it makes a lot of people very mad.

The politics (crooked judging) at the Berks show this year was worse than usual. The numbers were down this year at Berks not because of the economy and not because it was a bad week-end. The numbers were down because a lot of exhibitors are disgusted with the politics at the Berks show.

In case you haven't noticed, the Berks show is dying. Before long it will be dead.

Sincerely,

A friend

[This is the letter that I Shower sent to about 10 of the Berks "officials."
But I will not send it.
It's too risky. They'd know it was me who wrote it.]

DEAR MR. POWELL,

I SAW YOUR WININGS IN THE
P. PRESS AND CONTACTED THE SHOW
SEC. FOR YOUR ADDRESS — WHICH HE SENT TO ME PROMPTLY.

I AM INTERESTED IN R.C. BLACK MINORCAS, R.C. WHITE LEGHORNS, AND GOLDEN FACED WYANDOTTES.

ALL LARGE FOWL.

PLEASE ADVISE IF YOU WILL HAVE EGGS AVAILABLE IN THE SPRING AND THE PRICE/DOZ.

THANKING YOU IN ADVANCE —

C.D. Peterson

Dear Mr. Peterson:

I have never had any R.C. Minorcas or White Leghorns. I do have S.C. Black Minorcas and some Golden-faced Wyand-otters. It is possible that I will have some Golden-faced Wyandotte eggs available in the spring. If I do,
I will get in touch with you.

Thanks for your inquiry Sincerely,
S.A. Powell

It would be wonderful if it is possible to schedule Humanities 001-1,2 in the SLC, Room 32. I tend to use the blackboards a great deal as I teach, and there are plenty of blackboards in SLC-32.

Dear Robert,

Thank you for giving up your day at the museum to clerk for us. I've clerked before and I know it can be interesting but also long & boring.

In doing my show reports I am finding your work very accurate.

Congratulations on Champion!

Steamtown visit

To the editor:

The visit of two Steamtown steam locomotives on Saturday September 19, was very successful. About 400 people rode the trains and an equal number came out to see them.

The walking tour of historic sites, buildings and monuments in town caused the visitors to circulate throughout the downtown. Over 300 people signed the guest book at the Historical Society Museum in City Hall. As a measure of the quality of their collection, the president of the D&H was one of the visitors and was very impressed by the items on display.

Thanks should go out to many individuals and organizations: Ted Daniels and Joan Connor of the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce; Councilman Don McDonough; Shirley Rumford and the band parents; the director and members of the Carbondale Area Band; the women of Trinity Episcopal Church; Carbondale police and Lackawanna fire policeman Stanley Mark.

Also: Ronnie Gilroy, John Bubernik, Bob Powell and the Carbondale Historical Society, the Scranton Times and the Carbondale News, Carbondale fire and public works departments, and Dave and Doug Adams of Adams Cable.

Also assisting were Main Street Manager Thea Yerke, committee member Harry Coleman, and the Cub Scouts of Pack 307.

Thanks also to the National Park Service, Lackawanna Valley Railroad Authority, Lackawanna River Corridor Association, Rail Trail Council of N.E. PA, and particularly, the Steamtown Volunteer Association who chose Carbondale as a site to visit this year:

Dear Adrian,

Among the single Comb Reds that I got as chicks from you last winter, there was one Rose Comb Red — and he is a beauty. at the Eastern New York State Show at Cobleskill on 9/26-27, he was named Reserve Champion Standard. at the Rochester Poultry Association Show on 10/4, he was named Champion Standard and Grand Champion of the Show (APA District 2 meet, about 700 birds in the show). I am going to show him at Columbus. Who knows, maybe I'll get lucky.

Do you have a couple of female Rose Comb Red You can take to Columbus for me to buy?
a couple of pullets would be good; maybe a pullet and a young hen. Whatever you think best. In any event, I will be at Columbus and will be prepared to buy a couple R.C. Red females if you have any available.

Thanks.

Dear Don,

Your conscientious and thorough evaluation of one's birds, as you judge, is wonderful. It's always a learning experience for me to have you judge my birds, and that's just as it should be. I wish I lived near enough to you so that I could ask you to help me cull every once in a while.

Three more shows for me this year: Garden State, York, and Columbus. Last year at Columbus, I was fortunate enough to have "BV" on the Standard Partridge Rocks.

I will show a Cockerel and a pullet this year. Maybe I'll get lucky.

Thanks again for your careful judging. Your professionalism is much appreciated.

Dear Connie,

This is a written follow up to my phone call to you of 10/8/92, in which I requested (if possible) permission to make a substitution in my entry for the York Show.

I would like to withdraw from my entry the Black orpington Cock (Large Fowl) and substitute for him a Black-Breasted Red Modern Game Cockerel (Large Fowl).

Please call me collect if it is not possible to make the substitution. If I don't hear from you, I'll assume that the substitution is OK and I'll bring along with me the standard BB Red Modern Game cockerel.

Thank you.

Safely Home

I am home in Heaven, dear ones;
Oh, so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over,
Every restless tossing passed;
I am now at peace forever,
Safely home in Heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly Fared the valley of the shade?
Oh! Jesus have illumined
Every dark and fearful glade.

And He came Himself to meet me
When I was so sorely tried;
And with Jesus' arm to lean on,
Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely,
For I love you dearly still;
Try to look beyond earth's shadows,
Pray to trust our Father's Will.

There is work still waiting for you,
So you must not idly stand;
Do it now, while life remaineth—
You shall rest in Jesus' land.

When that work is all completed,
He will gently call you Home;
Oh, the rapture of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come!

October 16, 1992, at the Worthington Scranton PSU Library

The 1992 Fall show season is going beautifully. My best birds are taking the rigors of exhibition well and I am optimistic about the final three shows of the season: Garden State, York, and Columbus. The very beautiful Partridge Plymouth Rock Cockerel will be in great shape for Columbus, although an extra month of growth will only make him more beautiful. He will look very good but he will not have the full weight of an adult male. The two excellent pullets will be in good shape but they, too, could use more growing time. I want to make a statement at Columbus with the Partridge Rocks and the two young birds that I have entered in the show will do just that. The Rose Comb Rhode Island Red Cockerel should do well. He continues to get more beautiful. The hackle is now fully grown and he is dazzling. Yesterday I wrote a letter to Adrian Rademacher and told him that I would like to get a couple of female Rose Comb Reds from him. Hopefully, he will be able to take a couple with him to Columbus. I can hardly wait to see what other Rose Comb Reds will be on display at Columbus. Very probably, Adrian Rademacher will have some on display. I am anxious to see how my bird stands up to the others. Win, loose, or draw, it will be grand. The two Single Comb Red Pullets that I will show at Columbus are good but not excellent.

The Black Orpington Pullet should be in top form for Columbus. She is starting to lay, I believe, and will only get more beautiful in the next few weeks. I would very much like to have Best of Breed (and possibly more) with my Black Orpington Pullet. Since there is a meet of the United Orpington Club at Columbus, there will probably be many beautiful birds on display.

The Campines. Well, we shall see. I shall be showing a Pullet and a Cockerel. Maybe the Cockerel will be Best of Breed and more. Madame Minorca, the Black Australorp Hen, and the Silver-Laced Wyandotte Hen will also go along. One of them may just do very well. Madame Minorca is starting to look a little old, which is not surprising since she is at least four years old, maybe a year older.

I will show three bantams: the old Black Wyandotte Cock, a Black Wyandotte Pullet, and the Birchen Modern Game Hen. I will also show the standard Black-Breasted Red Modern Game Pullet. All of the birds that I will show are first class show birds and all will be in good condition, so anything is possible. I can hardly wait.

The disappointment of Berks is still with me. The unbelievably sleazy politics of that show are depressing. Elton Minnich is the chief culprit. When that show dies, it will be because Elton Minnich has caused it to die by his crooked judging in favor of his two pals, Tom Buss and William Bacon. Those of us who are not part of the inner circle of political favorites don't stand a chance at Berks. As I have said in these pages, I will never show at Berks again. No less than three well-respected poultry people (including an APA judge whose name I can not recall) came up to me after the American Class was judged and said that if they were judging my Rose Comb Red would have easily won the Class and probably have become Champion Large Fowl. He'll have his day again. He had it at Rochester and he will have it at least once in the course of the next three shows. George Schroeder will probably judge the standards at York; Ralph Beamer will probably judge the standards at Garden State; it's anybody's guess who will do the American Class at Columbus.

Last Saturday, I went to the Central Pennsylvania Poultry Club's auction in Bloomsburg with Mark Klinkiewicz from Waymart. His son, Brian, was not allowed to go by his mother. What a disappointment. Mark and I had a grand time. We talked about virtually everything on the way down and back in the Klinkiewicz pick-up truck. The CPAC group needed people to help carry cages for the auction and I volunteered and so did Mark. All day long we schlepped cages back and forth, along with a couple other teams of workers. I had a grand time and I think Mark did too. I bid on some standard Malays from Basil Smith and some standard Black-Breasted Red Modern Games; also on some young Pearl Guinea Fowl. I didn't get the bid on any of the birds that I bid on. Mark bought two pairs of Porcelain Booted Bantams and a pair of Appleyard Ducks. He was delighted with his purchases. We arrived at the Bloomsburg Fairgrounds at about 8:15 A.M. (departure from Carbondale at 6:30 A.M.) and departed from there at about 3:30 P.M. Mark was looking for some standard Partridge Rocks and there were none in the auction. Maybe there will be some in the sales area at Garden State or York or Columbus. I could use a couple of extra hens and so could Mark. If there are any decent ones available, I will buy them-- for myself and for Mark.

The Garden State show begins tomorrow morning at 9 A.M. and that means that I will have to clean and pack up the SRP show team this afternoon and evening and then leave Carbondale tomorrow morning before 5:30 A.M. It will be an overnight experience and DWP will go along. We shall have to find a motel after we get there.

Two or three new additions to the Fall show team will make their debut this weekend. The standard Black-Breasted Red Modern Game Cockerel will be very smart in a show cage. I believe that I am also taking the Malay hen along.

Spent the entire day yesterday up at the barn. Cleaned out the poultry quarters completely and rearranged some cages. It was a beautiful, warm Fall day and the birds and I had a grand time. I put 14 young Flying Tiplers up the the air and they flew very nice all day. They did about 10 hours with no difficulty. I also cleaned up the vegetable garden area completely. Now it is ready for Spring planting. Speaking of gardens and such, THE HYDRANGES WERE ESPECIALLY BEAUTIFUL THIS YEAR, as was the Autumn foliage. I can not remember a year when the leaves were more beautiful than they were this year. I say "were" because the leave, although still largely on the trees, have more or less lost their full radiance already. Dad is having a grand time using his leaf blower and getting the fallen leaves into a huge pile in the lower parking lot. Last year I collected up about 40 empty feed bags full of leaves and used them in the poultry house all winter long. I must do likewise this Fall. If the WSP piled-up leaves are not sufficiently dry for bagging, I will go out into the woods and get the leaves that I need for the poultry coop all winter long.

At the Werks Show, one of Basil Smith's boys gave DWP II a beautiful black rabbit. I believe it is called a Black Stain Rabbit. DWP II named the creature "Black Satin," and he is housed in an empty wire chicken cage in the poultry yard. DWP II loves him (her??) dearly and he/she seems to be happy as a lark in his new accommodations. During the few days that DWP II was here, over last week end, he very conscientiously took care of his pet rabbit. It is excellent that he has a pet rabbit of his very own.

10/16/92 1195

Dear Janice,

The 70th birthday photos are great. You are, I'm sure, the perfect daughter.

Donald and I will arrive in Columbus on Thursday night, ^{11/12} probably around 9 P.M. We will put the birds in their show cages on the Fairgrounds and then go to the Hotel, probably after 11 P.M. The name of the Hotel is the Trueman Club Hotel, 900 E. Dublin-Granville Road. Phone 614-888-7440.

I have a lot to do between now and then, and I am very excited about it all.

I will show 16 of my best birds: 1 cock, 5 hens, 3 cockerels, and 7 pullets. One of my best birds, a Rose Comb Rhode Island Red Cockerel, was named Grand Champion of the Show at the Rochester (NY) Poultry Assoc. Show on 10/4/92 — and there were about 800 birds in the show. He's a beauty.

I'll keep you posted.

Come,

Robert

10/17/92 - Alvin's Morning Star Motel, ¹⁹⁷
Rengas, NJ; 7 P.M.

Garden State Poultry Association Show:
"51st annual Fall Show." My most dazzling show win to date, I believe:

- Champion American - ^{49 in the class} Rosecomb Red Cockerel
- Champion AOSB - B.B. Red Modern Game Pullet
- Champion Continental - Golden Campine Cockerel
- ^{24 in the class} Champion English - Black Orpington Hen
- Reserve Champion Mediterranean ^{about 15 in class} - S.C. Black Minorca Hen

Ralph Beamer judged the English class; Sam Bush judged the other 4 classes listed above - also the Asiatic Class.

The win by the R.C. Red will earn me 10 Master Exhibitor points; there were 24 in the English class - which 1198 2. is a shame because that would have won me 10 M. E. points.

The competition in the American class was intense: there were about 30 standard Plymouth Rocks and about 10 standard S. C. Reds. The primary contenders for champion American were a White Rock cockerel, shown by E & M Nelson;
a Partridge Rock pullet shown by Jerry & Arlene Sliker; a Banded Rock pullet shown by Chuck Campfield. The judging of the class went on & on;
back & forth went Sam Bruch; finally my R. C. Red carried the day. Tears poured out of my eyes. Mammie Nelson, who won Reserve American on his White Rock, shook my hands. It was a grand moment. "Prince Bird" (my R. C. Red) is a great beauty and is admired by everyone.
What a grand feeling to have the grotesque judging mess of 1199 3.

the Berke Show "Corrected," or it were. Tom Burr's Barred Rock cockerel that was Champion American at Berke last week did not even win
"BV" today. Carl Harris, bless his heart, said to a very very upset Tom Burr: "Your Barred Rock did not win, I think, because he looks more like a Wyandotte than a Rock." Very true. Tom Burr stormed out. Also, my
S. C. Black Minorca hen beat out
Tom Burr's two standard S. C.
Minorcas! and then she went on to become Reserve Champion Mediterranean. It's all quite wonderful. Four of the six class Champions in standards belong to S.R.P. Tomorrow, "Prince Bird" may well be named Champion Standard and more. We shall see.

Steam Train Travels from Scranton to Carbondale

Hundreds of railroad enthusiasts are on hand for the Scranton-to-Carbondale steam train excursion. Two trains made the run over the old Delaware & Hudson line — the first activity on those tracks in several decades.

◆ Conductor Dale Malecki gives the "All aboard!"

◆ Larry Malski, executive director of the Lackawanna County Railroad Authority, addresses the crowd.

◆ Trevor Peszko and Joe Salitsky, Cub Scouts from Pack 307 in Carbondale, pass out city maps to disembarking passengers.

Robert Powell of the Carbondale Historical Society dresses in a top hat and bow tie for the occasion. ♦

Dear Roger & Carol,

It was very nice to visit with you at the Garden State show. There can't be many of us around who are interested in exhibition poultry and railroads. I shall have to look around our local Historical Society and see what we hear on mallets.

I was just now organizing some poultry paper at my desk and the enclosed ^{extra} copy of the APA Master Exhibitor point system surfaced among some poultry papers. I thought that you might like to have it.

I'm still higher than a kite from my best ever weekend of showing birds. It will probably be a long time before Dame Fortune smiles on my birds as she did this weekend at Flemington.

I have entered some birds in the Columbus show and look forward to seeing you there. This joint meet of the APA & the ABA should be a truly memorable experience. I can hardly wait.

Best Regards,

Robert

Dear Melissa,

Thank you for the #5 special at the 1992 GSPFA Show for Best Standard RIR Male. I am very pleased that my Rose Comb RIR Cockerel was named Best RIR Standard Male, especially in light of the fact that he was up against some very beautiful Reds.

It was wonderful to see all those "traditional" standards (Reds, Banded Rocks, White Rocks, etc.) at Flemington. Thanks again for the "special".

Sincerely,
Robert Powell

Dear Mr. Flaubel,

Thank you for the ^{#10} special at the GSPFA 1992 ^{Show} for Champion Large Fowl. I am very pleased that my Rose Comb RIR cockerel was named Champion American and then Champion Standard.
It is a great honor and one that means a lot to me, especially in light of the fact that the competition was so strong in the American and Asiatic classes.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Dear Adrienne,

Congratulations on a wonderful Fall show. The many hours of hard work that you and the core group of the GSPPA put in to make the show the great success that it was are much appreciated.

Enclosed is a check for $25.00 for "specials" for the 1993 GSPPA Show. The "specials" that I would like to offer are listed on a separate page herein.

Thanks again for a memorable poultry week-end. Sincerely,
Robert

Dear Audrey,

Enclosed is an ad from me for the GSPFA ad to be published in Poultry Press. A Check (#1747) for $28.00 is also enclosed.

Thank you for the many hours of hard work that you and the core group of the GSPFA put in to make the 1992^{show} the success that it was. Everything came off beautifully. I didn't hear a single complaint from anyone about anything. Congratulations on a job very well done.

In all the excitement, I neglected to ask you the number of birds in the show.

I also forgot to count the number of birds in the English Class. If you could tell me those numbers (stamped, self-addressed envelope enclosed), I would appreciate it very much.

Thanks again -- to you and to the entire Club -- for all that you did to make the 1992 show the great success that it was.

Sincerely,

Robert

Donald and I were both initiated into the Mossie Grange (#1041), Waymart, tonight. It was the result of my having asked Nick Buraff (the Master of the Grange) how one became a member of the Grange. I asked him at the Clinton Center Pioneer Day on 8/23/92. The initiation and meeting were preceded by a bountiful "Harvest Home" Dinner in the Grange Hall. Among the members present were Doris Howell, Myrtle Carter, Louise Swann, Nick & Clara Buraff, Elizabeth Jones. Very interesting. The organization needs re-vitalizing and possibly DWP and I can do it. My plan at the moment is to see if Mark Klinkiewicz and his circle of friends (which appears to be fairly large) are interested in becoming grange members. They are just what the organization needs. Who knows — they may be very excited by the possibility. There appears to be a spot in the program for "special programs" — and the thought occurs to me that I could easily deliver a series of short talks/presentations on poetry — supplemented by line examples of show birds to illustrate my talk. I will think about the idea & then present it to Nick and see what he says.

Dear Robert, "Reserve champion of Show"

This rosette was over looked at the show so I'm sending it to you.

We cleaned up this last Sunday at the show and elected officers. Also set the date for next year at Sept.
26th 1993 and changing judges as we have a two year limit.

Everette Island has took Vice President as he wanted a rest from show sec., so Bill Post took it and the rest is the same.

We thank you for your letter and I read it at the meeting 5-2-01 and we will have a dinner

Nov. 8 to close out this year then start meetings in April.

We have been very busy as the kids gave us a big celebration on Oct. 3 for our 50th Anniversary, our oldest son from Florida flew in for the week end which was great.

Then on Oct. 5 which was the day we married, we visited Montrose Co. as that is where we were married and went and saw the Paces which was a beautiful day.

Now, we have to get ready for our trip to Columbus, Ohio for the big Show. Hope we have good weather.

Take care & Thanks again
Your friends

Janet Wilson from Walmart telephoned this afternoon (969-6327) while I was in Carbondale. I phoned her at 3:45 P.M. and she said:

"Mr. Powell, are you still interested in working for Walmart?"

SRP: "yes, I am."

JW: "O.K. by mid- to late-November, we will make you an offer."

SRP: "Thank you."

and that was that. I will almost certainly accept their offer. Retail sales; garden department, part time; medical benefits included.

"Prime Bird" (the Rose Comb Rhode Island Red Cockerel) was very healthy & robust last night when I put him in the car. This morning when I took him out of his travel box, his right eye was puffed up with what I think to be a 24-hour cold. I immediately gave him a Terramycin Capsule and he was moved to the side-lines of the show cages and "Prime Bird" was out of the competition for the day. I am virtually certain that he will be back to normal tomorrow morning. I am not at all upset that he is out of the running for this show. No important thing is that he recover: I plan to show him at Columbus and need him as well for breeding purposes.

In the "American Class" in the show there are some beautiful birds: some beautiful S. C. Reds shown by a Frank Harris from Beaverdam, VA; also a couple beautiful Silver-Laced Wyandottes shown by Tommy Stanley; also some nice White Rocks. I think that one of Frank Harris' S. C. Red Cockerels will be Champion American. If "Prince Bird" had been in form, he would, I believe, have carried the day. No problem. When we left the show hall at about 4:30 P.M., Prince Bird's swollen eye was about half-open, which is wonderful. This morning it was swollen shut.

In the Mediterranean Class, things went well today. "Madame Minorea" was named BV in a Class of about 9 birds — some shown by Frank Harri (from Adrian Rademacher birds). Frank & I watched as George Schroeder selected Madame Minerva. There are about 20 standard Leghorns in the show and the best one is a white pullet.

Madame Minerva could easily win — since George Schroeder loves standard Minervas. She will be Reserve Champion Mediterranean if she is not Champion Mediterranean.

In the American class, a Partridge Plymouth Rock hen shown by Tommy Stanley was named BV, which put my young pair of Partridge Rocks out of the running — and both of them are better birds than the Tommy Stanley hen. Off well.

In the English class, there are about a dozen standard Orpington: six or seven blacks shown by four exhibitors: Wm. Bacon, Jr, Dale Godwin (of all people), Tommy Stanley and SRP, also about 8 Buffs, shown by 2 exhibitors. My beautiful Black pullet was named BV + BB, which means she has an excellent chance of being named Champion English; and her primary competitor is a standard Dark Cornish hen. We shall see. I will be very happy if the Black Orpington pullet and/or Madame Minerva are named Class Champions — either win would mean Master Exhibitor points for SRP.

The English & Mediterranean Classes were judged by George Schneider.

There were 5 bantam ^{B.B. Red} American Games shown:

SRP's cockerel - 1st

excellent news.

The breed was judged by Ernie Durb.
There is a $5 special that was put up by Todd McWilliams - and SRP will receive it.

Dale Godwin is now showing standard Black Minorcas & standard Black oringtons! What is going on?
Has he decided to emulate SRP?

"Powell win with Minorcas & oringtons, maybe I should show them" - are these Dale's thoughts? Whatever the case, I am very pleased to have run "BB" in both Minoras and Orpingtons.

Tommy Stanley is showing some beautiful birds: Silver-faced Wyand-dotter, Buff Orpingtons, Partridge Rock and many others; and so is Frank Harri, a likeable young guy who is a friend of Stanley's.
Harri has Adrian Rademacher's line of Minoras + RIR's. Stanley also has some nice ^{standard} White Wyand-dotter.

Joseph Thompson (Edgewood, MD) is showing some average standard Australorps. My hen is much better, but she is at home
"setting." No matter.

Jim Zook from Bechtelsville, PA (exhibitor # 20) is showing a very nice standard B. B. Red Modern Game pullet. Zook

1240 7.

is a nice young guy - very much
"with it" as far as teenagers go .. these days. I wouldn't mind having a couple of his B.B. Red pullets.

Well, here's the story: I have a good chance of having at least one (maybe 2) Class Champions in the standards. The Class Champions have already been Chosen and will not be announced until tomorrow morning. That's fine.

Certainly the in-group already know, but the rest of us will have to wait until tomorrow morning.

I must now re-think / revise my Columbus show list. There are some of my entries that should probably stay home.

It's hard to say what will happen with the Continentals & AOSB — Madame Malay and the Golden Camperion might do something, although I think that they probably won't.

My exhibitor number in this show is #2; I have never had a number so low. It means, of course, that I was the second person to send in my entry. There are 72 exhibitors on the York list.

DWP and I are staying in the Econolodge in York — very nice; we stayed here before. It seems like it was just last week (when it was last year) that we were here.

[Connie Scarlett]

S. Robert Powell
RD #1, Box 40
Carbondale, PA 18407-9706

Dear Connie,

Thank you for the many hours of hard work that you and the core group of the York Club put in to make the '992 show the great success that it was. It is always a pleasure to show at York. I especially liked the way the awards ceremony was handled; also, I think it is a terrific idea to wait until Sunday to announce the ^{class} Champion and to give out the specials.

In copying out, I neglected to take with me a small plastic pail with ^{poetry} grooming supplies that I take with me to show. I left the pail in a show cage on the floor level in the aisle where the American Cocker birds were shown. Enclosed is $2.00.

Would you be so kind as to put the following items from the pail in a small box & send them to me by parcel post?

- one small plastic container of terramycin Capsules
- one pair of tweezers
- one plastic measuring cup
- one pink & white scrub brush

I don't think that there is anything else in the pail that

I need. Please don't send me the 2-tips, the feed, the two or three eggs that my hen laid, and I don't need or want the plaster pail.

In the event that the pail and its contents are not to be found, please put the #2 that is enclosed in the Club treasury.

Congratulations to you and to the Club on a wonderful Show and thanks again for all your hard work.

Sincerely,
Robert Powell

I also forgot to ask you how many birds were in the show.
Please tell me the #;
a stamped post card is enclosed.

BELGIAN D'UCCLE & BOOTED BANTAM CLUB

By Audrey Barna, Secty.

p. 25

IS THERE A BELGIAN IN THE HOUSE?

With the diversity of accents countrywide it is not unreasonable to expect people to pronounce breed names differently.

For example Brahmas can be called Bray-mas, Brah-mas, or Bramm-ahs, depending on who you talk to. But the Belgian D'Uccle I am certain would take the prize for differing ways to pronounce it's name.

The word D'Uccle means from Uccle, a place in Belgium where either the breed originated or from which it was imported.

But how does one pronounce D'Uccle? I have heard Dee Uckel, Duck-kul, Dee Oo-kul, Dee Uncle, and Doo-Clay. That probably explains how the practice of calling them Millies began - no one could pronounce D'Uccle.

Perhaps there is a Belgian out there who would clear this matter up for us. Then we could make breed history by being the only breed where everyone was in agreement on the pronunciation.

10/27/92 ¹²⁶⁸

Dear Audrey,

Now that the show season has settled down a little,
I read the October issue of Poetry Press last night and I read "Is there a Belgian in the house."

Although I am not Belgian by birth, I can answer your question about Uncle Belgian.

In addition to raising exhibition poetry, I am also a college teacher (Penn State) with a Ph.D. in French language and literature.

For years, I have been bothered by the strange pronunciations that one hears of "Mille" and "Mille Fleurs" and other French words that one encounters in the realm of exhibition poetry. And so, last November I wrote the enclosed article and sent it to Bill Coueff for publication. The article has not yet been published, but Bill assures me that it will be. Whenever an issue of Poetry Press arrives, I quickly scan the issue to see if the article has been published. Maybe it will be in the November issue.

As Secretary of the Belgian d'Udele and Boated Sautorn Club, I would very much appreciate any comments that you might have on the article.

Sincerely,

Robert

Humanities 001: Dr. S. R. Powell
Penn State University (WS campus), Quiz on INFERNO, 10-28-1992

ANSWER 25 OF THE FOLLOWING 27 QUESTIONS. Each question is worth 4 points.

1. State Dante's complete name.
2. Give the birth and death years of Dante.
3. Dante was born in what Italian city?
4. State the name given by Dante to his book in which he describes the three-part Catholic otherworld.
5. In what language is that book (referred to in question 4) written in?
6. In what year was that book published?
7. In what year do the events described in that book take place?
8. How many cantos are there in INFERNO? When do the events described therein take place?
9. How many cantos are there in PURGATORIO? When do the events described therein take place?
10. How many cantos are there in PARADISO? When do the events described therein take place?
11. Who serves as Dante's guide in INFERNO?
12. Who serve as Dante's guides in PURGATORIO?
13. Who serve as Dante's guides in PARADISO?
14. What are the three Beasts of Worldliness that Dante encounters in Canto I of INFERNO? Each of those beasts represents a particular section of Hell. What are those three sections of Hell named by Dante?
15. What percentage of INFERNO (how many cantos) does Dante devote to describing what he regards as the worst sins? In what circles of Dante's INFERNO are what he regards as the worst sins described?
16. What important book served as the model for Dante's description of Hell? In that prototype, who goes unto the Underworld? Who serves as guide in that earlier trip into the Underworld?
17. Name the three rivers in Hell that Dante and his guide cross. Who are the boatmen who take the travelers across those rivers?
18. What does Virgil represent in Dante's HELL?
19. What does Beatrice represent in Dante's HELL? What is her family name?
20. What is a centaur?

27. What is Dis? Who is the principal inhabitant thereof?

BONUS QUESTIONS:

1. What is the 9-line inscription on the Gate of Hell?
2. What are the seven Vices according to traditional Catholicism?
3. What are the seven Virtues according to traditional Catholicism?
4. Translate and give the significance of the following sentence: "Lingua toscana, lingua di Dio."
5. Translate and give the significance of the following sentence: "Lingua toscana in bocca romana."
6. What is the name of the River of Forgetfulness in Dante's HELL?

It's always fun to go to the York show. It's about 185 miles and so it means that one must depart from Carbondale around 4 A.M. to arrive there comfortably and get the birds cleaned up and into the show cages. The absolutely wonderful news of day two at the show (Sunday) is that the Black Orpington pullet was named Champion English and there were 33 birds (at least) in the class, which means that SRP will be awarded no less than 5 Master Exhibitor points--maybe 10 points if there were more than 750 birds in the show. The competition in the English class was very good and so the victory is wonderful. As DWP and I watched the activity that goes on around the cages in which the champions are housed, Bob Delancy was fussing about taking photographs of the champions for POULTRY PRESS. He remarked that he always has trouble taking photographs of the champions at York because the cages are in front of windows and the photographs are always over-exposed. DWP told him how to "tip down" (set the light meter so that it reads correctly if the camera is focused on the floor in front of the windows) and then Delancy went about taking photographs. I remarked: "Be sure and get a good photo of that Black Orpington pullet." He inquired why, and I told him that she was my bird. He then suggested that we get the bird out and position her on an appropriate box and take a good photograph of her. That is what we did. She posed beautifully on top of a box and the light on her was wonderful. Delancy took her photo and I was standing beside her. I am very hopeful that the photograph will turn out well because any photo that Delancy takes will surely appear in POULTRY PRESS. A very nice photograph of "Prince Bird" was taken after his glorious triumph at Rochester and I am hopeful that that photograph will turn out well and will be published in POULTRY PRESS. The last two issues of POULTRY PRESS (September and October) have contained photographs of my birds: Madame Minorca, at Rochester, and Black Orpington Hen #24, at the Finger Lakes Show (at the moment I am not sure which one is in September and which one is in October).

Madame Minorca was named Reserve Champion Mediterranean at York and I agree with that determination. She was beaten by a beautiful young White Leghorn hen (maybe a pullet). None of my various contenders for Champion and Reserve Champion Continental and AOSB was selected by the judges. That's fine. The win of Champion English is especially nice and I am delighted.

Prince Bird is now (10-28-92) back to normal, following his session with a cold at the York Show. What a relief! He will be strong and vibrant for Columbus, and that is very important. Frank Harris, the nice guy from Virginia, who has excellent standard Reds and Minorcas, took a videotape of much of the show and made a special point of videotaping Prince Bird, even though he was under the weather at the time. A curious thing happened between Saturday night and Sunday morning. Frank Harris, who told me that he regularly talks to Adrian Rademacher on the phone, mentioned to me on Sunday morning something that suggested that he had talked to Adrian Rademacher on the phone on Saturday night. Frank said (more or less): "Well, you'll be getting a couple of Rose Comb pullets from Adrian Rademacher at Columbus so you'll be OK as far as breeding Rose Combs next year." "Yes," I said. "I should be able to raise a few next year." It was not until a couple of days later that I realized that I had never mentioned to Frank that I would be getting a couple of Rose Comb hens from Adrian at Columbus, which means that Frank must have telephoned Adrian on Saturday night and Adrian told him of my recent letter to him (Adrian) in which I asked him to take a couple of Rose Comb females to Columbus for me. Very interesting. How small the world is! The person who complained about the fact that Prince Bird was ill and that he should be isolated at the York show must have been Frank Harris, since Prince Bird was caged between an empty cage and a Rose Comb Red pullet that belongs to Frank Harris. Frank, I'm sure, realizes how beautiful Prince Bird is and wanted him clearly out of the competition since he (Frank) doubtless realizes that Prince Bird is better than the Single Comb Rhode Island Red of Harris' that was named Champion American and then Champion Standard of the Show. That must be why he wanted to get a video of Prince Bird as well. Those are all very wonderful indications of just how good Prince Bird is. I am now more convinced than ever that he will cause a sensation at Columbus!

Loftus appointed curator at local museum

The Board of Trustees of the Dorflinger-Suydam Wildlife Sanctuary, White Mills, Pa., announces the appointment of Henry J. Loftus Jr., as Curator, Dorflinger Glass Museum, and Program Coordinator, The Wildflower Festival of Music and the Wildflower Festival of Art.

Loftus is from Carbondale and has a degree in history and political science from the University of Scranton. He is currently vice president of the Carbondale Public Library and has also been active in the Carbondale Historical Society and Museum.

The Dorflinger Glass Museum which opened in 1989, has over 600 pieces of Dorflinger glass. Loftus is currently making plans for the 1993 museum season. An exhibit tracing glass making from the raw material to the finished product is in the developmental stage. The exhibit will feature the tools used in the process.

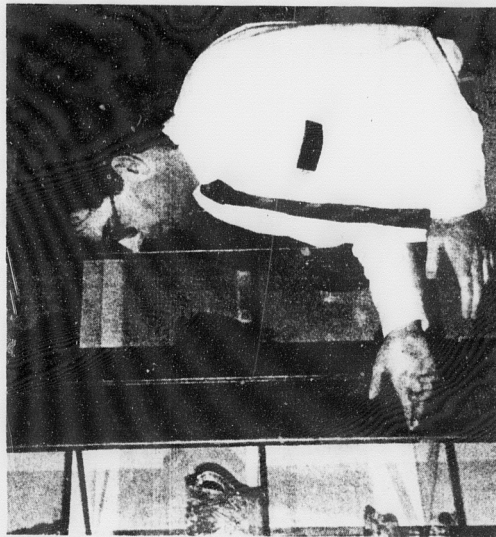

Working with Tom Dein, General Manager of the Sanctuary, Loftus will coordinate the art and music programs which take place each summer on the beautiful sanctuary grounds. Both programs, The Wildflower Festival of Music and The Wildflower Festival of Art, have drawn increasing numbers of enthusiastic supporters.

Jeth Mill, Artistic Director of The Wildflower Festival of Music and Executive Director of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Philharmonic, is planning another series of eight summer concerts to take place in the outdoor amphitheatre on the Sanctuary grounds. The 1993 summer program will feature a wide range of performers.

The Wildflower Festival of Art, under the direction of Margot Adams Clauss, will present three exhibits during the summer of 1993. Each exhibit will be displayed in the handsome Main House which also holds the collection of Dorflinger glass.

The Dorflinger Glass Museum is open Wednesday through Saturday, 10-4, and Sunday, 1-4. The Museum will close for the season on Sunday,

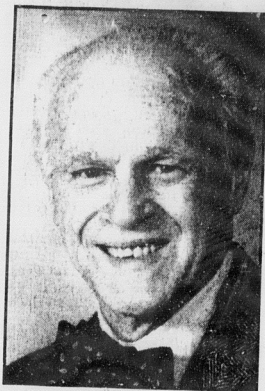

Henry J. Loftus Jr. in Dorflinger Glass Museum, White Mills, Pa.

November 1 and will reopen Saturday, May 15, 1993.

A.P.A.
NEWS & NOTES
by 10/92
Nona Shearer p. 3

October is when the fall colors and the fall show season get into full swing. I do have some birds I feel are worth showing this year. It is wonderful to again take some birds to a show that you think the judge should pay some attention to. Of course they may look different against competition in a showroom.

Only a month to the big one in Columbus. It will be a special experience for me and I hope I will see you there. The APA will be honoring John Norris, Elvin Schultz and John Garrett at our general meeting on Saturday, November 14, 7:30 pm at the Trueman Club Hotel. These are all men who have contributed to the APA and the poultry fancy. They are all planning to attend the show so come and help the association honor them. There will also be business to budget for the coming year and you will hear further reports on Standard unification. It is also an opportunity for you to bring up items for discussion. Come and take part in decisions that affect your association.

I have not gotten any response to my call for how to publicize a show to the general public. We must become easier for people to find; more in the public eye so people who like birds can discover this hobby. How do you publicize your show? What do you do at your show to greet and inform those outside the fancy who might attend? What do you do to follow up on people who show an interest? I have some ideas about this and will be giving them to you in upcoming columns and the APA newsletter but I am sure there are more creative ideas out there than I have been a part of. Give me your ideas or ongoing practices. Please share what seems obvious to you. I might never have thought of it.

Come to Columbus and make sure you stop by the APA table and say "Hi" or give me a hug; your choice.

Dear Nona,

In response to the question you asked in your APA column in the October 1992 Poetry Press on how to publicize a poetry show to the general public, I offer some suggestions in an article that I wrote that was published in the 1991 APA Yearbook (pp. 153-155), entitled "We Need More Local Publicity."

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

10/30/92

Dear Dan,

Two guys that I know are very interested in getting some standard B.B. Red Modern Game from you: one guy wants a pair, the other guy wants a cockerel (he has some Moderns and needs new blood). Do you have any birds for sale?

If you're going out to Columbus, maybe you could take along a pullet and two cockerels. If you're not going, maybe you could send them with someone who is going.

In any event, I'll phone

You in the middle of next week to see what the possibilities might be.

I got the "thank you" card for clerking at the RPA show: thanks Marietta. It was a pleasure to clerk for Robert Steiner. He's a first class judge in my book. I also think Don Krabe is excellent. Nothing escapes his attention — and that's the way it should be.

Sincerely,
Robert

[Jim Zook]

10/30/92

1278

Dear Jim,

I should know by the middle of next week whether or not I can get a standard B.B. Red Modern Game Cockerel for you. If I can, I will.

If all goes well and I am able to get a cockerel — and you go out to Columbus with Basil Smith — we can make the trade there.

I'll contact you ^{by phone} a few days before I leave for Columbus to see where we stand.

Sincerely,

Robert Powell

[Glen Trone] 10/30/92 1279

Dear Glen,

Yes, I do have a standard Golden Campine cockerel that I can sell you at Columbus on Saturday the 14th. It will be one of the cockerels that I showed at York.

Let me know if you still want one ($10.00) and if you will definitely be at Columbus.

Sincerely,
Robert Powell

10/31/92

Dear Lillian + Ralph,

Thanks for the "Reserve Champion of the Show" rosette. Everett Foland also sent a "Best of Breed" ribbon from the Rhode Island Red Club of America.

The standard Rose Comb R.d.R.
Cockerel that I won with at Cobleskill was Grand Champion of the Show at Rochester (10/4/92) and Champion Standard at the Garden State Show at Flemington (10/17-18/92). I am going to show him at Columbus. Who knows, maybe
I'll get lucky.

I'm also going to show about a dozen other birds at Columbus, including 128/2.

a beautiful Black Orpington pullet that I raised this year (she was Champion English at Garden State last week end, in some very good competition).

I also have a ^{standard} Partridge Rock Cockerel and a pullet that are looking very nice.

Win, lose, or draw, it will be fun, and I can hardly wait. I'm sure I'll run into you there.

Best regards,

Robert

500 miles one way 1282

Preparations for Columbus well under way. DWP arranged to get DWP II for the weekend - he will pick him up on Wednesday the 11th and take him back on Monday the 16th. That is grand. DWP II will have a grand time and so will DWP & I. It will be action packed and complex and wonderful. I re-confirmed the reservation at the Trueman Club / Hotel tonight & everything is all set: we'll be there for the nights of Nov. 12, 13 & 14. I also rented a car for the Thursday → Monday period. Did so through a Museum of Natural History Corporate ID number that I got when I subscribed to Natural History. The car will cost $87.36 for the 4 days, with unlimited free mileage — which is a very good deal to be sure. I spent some time today organizing in the hen house to make it possible for me to be away for three nights and not have to worry about the birds at home. In the course of the next ten days I will refine and polish the arrangements so that it will all be quite effortless and worry free. Since I will be taking about a dozen birds with me, the arrangements at home will be all the easier.

11/2/92 - ordered 700 pounds of poultry feed this morning ^{at 8 A.M.} from Narrowsburg.

Feed: 300 layer pellets
100 medicated chick grower pellets
100 whole oats
200 cracked corn.

That should carry me through a couple months, I believe, although feed consumption does increase, of course, during cold weather.

The feed will probably be delivered tomorrow morning or late afternoon. The advantages to getting from Narrowsburg Feed my poultry feed are many: excellent quality feed, free and prompt delivery, good prices (no tax because I'm out of state), and,
^{never} significantly, they are nice people.

11/3/92 - 940 A.M. L.C.C.C.

1285

It seems un-real. My choice for President actually won the election. Not since Kennedy have I been in the winning camp, so to speak. And Clinton's victory was so resounding, which is wonderful. President Bush is such a loser — he and the Republican establishment are enjoying a large dish of crow this morning. Speaking of birds: last week Bush said in a campaign speech: "If Governor Clinton wins the election, we'll be up to our necks in owls and there will be millions of people out of work." Bush also made fun of VP elect Gore and called him "ozone-man" because he (Gore) is pro-environment.

128²

Thank God that Clinton & Gore have won. The stock market has probably accepted/received the news with open arms.

W.S.P. was sick to his stomach three times during the night and he did not take his usual morning walk today. When I got up at 6:30 A.M. I noticed that Ebony was still in the dog yard. When I went downstairs, I noticed that the living room lights were on. It seemed that W.S.P. was in there. I went in and said, as he was putting on his shoes: "Slow start this morning?" WSP: "I threw up 3 times in the night and I'm feeling so weak I can hardly stand up." When I left for LCCC at about 8:30 A.M., things sounded more normal than earlier. It's probably just a 24-hour virus or else something that he ate yesterday. Mem & he stopped at a fire company somewhere yesterday and purchased a take-out Italian dinner.

That could be the cause of the stomach problem. We shall see. I fully expect that all will be normal later on.

Spent much of the day yesterday in the hen house: Cleaning and organizing + making preparations for Columbus. Discovered that "Prize Bird" and others have a bad case of fowl mites. I immediately sprayed all infested parties with Adam Flea Off Mist which, I'm convinced, will take care of the problem.
"Prize Bird" has had his share of problems on the show circuit: it is always a risk as there are poultry maladies + poultry vermin everywhere on the show circuit.

11/4/92 - 8 P.M.

The wonderful news of the day is that I now have the 100 points necessary to be named a Master Exhibitor by the American Poultry Association. Audrey Barna returned my inquiry sheet about the 1992 Garden State Show and indicated therein that there were 26 birds "shown & judged" in the English Class, which means that my Black orpington Hen won 10 M.E. points which, with that show, I got the points needed to make the 100 — maybe more, since the reports from all of the show secretaries concerned must be filed in an appropriate and timely manner, which is rarely a problem. My tally on N. E. points for this year is as follows:

B&W NYPA — 5
TTPC — 10
ENYSPA — 5
RPA — 15
GSPFA — 20
York PFA — 5 ✓

60 (1992)

1990 — 20
1991 — 25
1992 — 60 (so far; maybe 105 I have a "win" at Columbus)

11/19/92 - There were 750+ birds, so there become +10; 12/10/92 - no, there were 731 birds total

the 45 points in 1990 & 1991; the 60 points this year came fairly quickly. It's been a grand year of showing — and,
as I say, it's still not over.
The competition at the affo
"National" in Columbus at the end of next week will be intense, but I could easily win a class Championship (say so, modestly). The American class Champion could easily be "Prince Bird" or one of the Partridge Rocks. The English class Champion could easily be my best Black orpington pullet. Anything is possible.

I have already started the Clean up and "primp" process on my prime contenders and will re-double my efforts as the big day draws near. A week from tomorrow DUP I + II and I will set out for Columbus. I will show about a dozen birds;
I have entered 16 (I believe).
a day or two before departure
I will make the final decision. I can hardly wait. as an APA Master exhibitor, I will receive a plaque from the American Poetry Association indicating that I am a Master Exhibitor. Also, an entire page in the 1993 APA Yearbook will be devoted to SRP's win to make the 100 points. There will be a photo of SRP plus a complete list of win (show, date, the win, the bird that won, number of M.E. points for the win). It is a lovely honor and I am very pleased to have won it.

DENTAL HYGIENE CLINIC — INFORMATION AND CONSENT —

Please read the following information carefully so that you will understand the conditions under which clients are treated in this clinic. At the bottom of the page, sign your name indicating that you understand these conditions, and that you give permission for necessary treatment and for the faculty's use of your records (radiographs, study models, photographs, etc.) for educational purposes.

1. Treatment in the clinic proceeds more slowly than in a private office since the services are rendered by students and are carefully evaluated by faculty members. Completion of procedures cannot be guaranteed in any specific period of time. Generally preventive treatment appointments are two to three hours in length and clients may visit the Clinic more than one time. Only clients who have time available for the services will be accepted as clinic clients.
2. The dental hygiene students have a certain amount of time set aside to complete their clinical requirements. Their time, like yours, is very valuable. You may be dismissed as a clinic client for any of the following reasons: two or more cancellations, consistent lateness, or failure to cancel appointments at least 24-hours in advance.
3. Clients should seek additional care from a private dentist since services performed in this Clinic are limited to preventive treatment and do not replace regular or extensive dental care.
4. All records are the property of the College; however, x-ray films, study models, and the results of the oral examination may be sent to your private dentist upon request. All or portions of records may be used for teaching, research, publications, and other educational purposes by students, faculty, or other representatives of the College.
5. The Clinic reserves the right to refuse to provide treatment if the client does not or will not accept recommended treatment and procedures, including radiographs. Radiographs (x-rays) will be taken based on client need.
6. Fees will be charged for services provided and are based on covering the expenses of supplies needed to provide services. Fees are small but must be collected before services are performed.
7. Services provided are considered to be preventive and not diagnostic in nature, and the College, Department, faculty, or students cannot be held responsible for a non-diagnosis or mis-diagnosis of a condition.
8. The Clinic reserves the right to refuse to provide treatment if the client's medical condition contraindicates routine dental treatment. Only clients who meet the learning needs of our students as deemed appropriate by the dental and dental hygiene faculty will be accepted as clinic clients.

Having read the above, I verify that I understand the information contained herein, and I grant authority to Luzerne County Community College, Dental Hygiene Clinic, to perform those procedures deemed necessary. I give permission for release of my records to and from my dentist and/or physician. I also agree to make payment for services in accordance with my treatment plan.

THE TWIN TIER POULTRY CLUB SHOW
By Mary L. Learn, Secty

The Twin Tier Poultry Club held their 10th Anniversary Show on Sunday, September 13, 1992 with over 700 birds being shown. The birds were of excellent quality and Mr. Johnny Batson and Mr. Gerald Donnelly did a great job of judging. Champion Large Fowl was a Golden Campine Cockerel shown by S. Robert Powell. Reserve Champion Large Fowl was a Brown Red

O.E. Game Cockerel shown by Paul Jones. A Black Cochon Hen shown by George Schroeder was Champion Bantam. Reserve Champion Bantam was a S.C. White Leghorn Cockerel shown by George Beyer. A White Call Old Male shown by Art Lundgren was Champion Waterfowl. Reserve Champion Waterfowl was taken by a Toulouse Old Male shown by West Creek Waterfowl. Champion Guinea was a Pearl Old Male shown by Kenneth & Mary Learn. Reserve Champion Guinea was a Pearl Old Female shown by Dick Park.

This year all birds were single tiered which is a practice we plan to continue as we now have more space available to us.

We hope everyone enjoyed the commemorative mugs, plaques and awards that were given out. The Twin Tier Poultry Club wishes to thank the exhibitors, new and old, that showed with us. We also thank Mr. Batson and

Mr. Donnelly for the superb judging. It was a beautiful day, a great show, and we thank you all for making it possible.

Dear Jim,

Yee, I can get a standard B. B. Red Modern Game Cockerel for you.

The guy who has the Modern will take the bird to Columbus and I can get the bird to you there.

In the event that you don't go out to Columbus, I will bring the cockerel back to Pennsylvania and we can arrange to meet — somewhere between Beretelsville and Carbondale — sometime in the next several weeks.

Several of the birds that I entered in the Columbus show have recently started to moult heavily which means, of course, that they will have to stay at home. Nevertheless, I will have about six or seven birds in beautiful show condition and am prepared to take my chances at Columbus. Maybe I'll get lucky. Win lose or draw, it will be a wonderful event.

Sincerely,

Robert Powell

URGENT!!

PLEASE READTO: ALL FACULTY AND STAFF

ON FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, STATE SENATOR BOB MELLOW WILL BE ON CAMPUS TO GIVE A BRIEF PRESENTATION ABOUT THE APPROPRIATIONS PROCESS IN HARRISBURG.

WE NEED A LARGE TURN-OUT (FACULTY, STAFF AND STUDENTS) TO SHOW SEN. MELLOW THAT WE ARE CONCERNED ABOUT THE STATE'S BUDGET PROBLEMS AND THE IMPACT THOSE PROBLEMS WILL HAVE ON THE WSC COMMUNITY.

IT IS ESSENTIAL TO HAVE SEN. MELLOW AS AN ALLY IN HARRISBURG AS HE CHAIRS THE SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE.

THE TALK WILL BE FRIDAY 1:00 IN THE SLC QUIET LOUNGE. PLEASE CONSIDER ADJOURNING CLASS OR GIVING EXTRA CREDIT TO STUDENTS WHO ATTEND. WE NEED SEN. MELLOW'S SUPPORT.

SPP asked Senator Mellow the following question (which was very well received):

"If you were to find yourself, by the stroke of some magic wand, in President-elect Clinton's shoes, what are some of the things that you do right off the bat?"

In essence, his response was:
do something about the export - important problem and see about a national health care program.

Right after my question, someone re-stated the question but asked the Senator to assume that he was just elected Governor of Pennsylvania; and then yet a third hypothetical question structured like mine.
I was pleased (and flattered) by the 2 questions that were modeled on mine.

I went up after it was over and shook Mellor's hand & he, of course, knew me and greeted me warmly.

11/6/92 - 10:30 P.M.

1311

Phoned Dan Schuth tonight. He will take three of his B.B. Red Moderns. Games to Columbus: 2 cockerels and one pullet. I will buy them for $30; I will trade Jim Zook one of the cockerels for one of his (Zook's) hens; I will keep the other pair. That will give me 5 standard Modern Games:

- my pullet from D. Urich
- the cockerel I now have from Dan Schuth
- the pullet that I will get from Zook in exchange for the Schuth cockerel
- an additional pair that I will get from Schuth.

I will breed from all three pullets, which should give me a very broad gene pool "down the road," as one says.

1312 2.

The two Schuth cockerels will very probably be full brothers, which is fine. The chicks from these un-related (hopefully) birds should be very vigorous, which is wonderful.

Adrian Rademacher will take two R.C. RIR pullets to Columbus for me. I will take a Golden Campine cockerel to Columbus for Glen Trone.

"Madame Minerva" is starting to moult heavily, which means that she will not go to Columbus, which is too bad. She is a beauty. I also think that the Campine pullet has started a heavy moult. There's nothing to be done about it. They moult on their own schedule.

Tim —

I mailed another FTA Bulletin today. ^{→ dated "11/6/92"}
You will probably receive your copy on the same day that you receive this letter.

I apologize for not having contacted you about a "President's Letter," but when I suddenly realized that we have FTA 1993-1994 election to go through, there wasn't time.

There will be another Bulletin on December 18, 1992 and that will contain the ballots. So please get any material to me that you want in the 12/18/92 Bulletin by the first week in December.

I have had good luck in finding Someone to donate the cost of printing the current Bulletin (11/16/92). I may be able to arrange for some more "donated" printing in the future. We-shall see.

I plan to nominate you for president of the FTA again — and I hope you will serve (I'm sure that the membership will re-elect you.).

If nominated & elected, I will serve. I told Walter and Jerry that I will nominate them.
I hope they agree to run.

Yours truly,
SRP

11/10/92

Dear Jerry,

My plan is to nominate you once again for Central Timer for 1993-1994. I don't think that there has ever been a Central Timer of the FTA — in the 54-year history of the organization — who has done more for the Club than you have. The FTA needs you.

Maybe you should be the Secretary or the President?

If nominated for Secretary — and elected — I will serve,

but I am also prepared to step aside if you are at all interested in running for Secretary.

Yes, I have the Michael Best
"Get to know" form materials & they will be published in the Bulletin — as soon as possible.

Yes, I think we can encourage Andy Fuller by awarding him a diploma for his 6:11 fly in Fall III. It's a very good idea.

Yours in the clouds

THE COUNTDOWN TO COLUMBUS
(11-11-1992, 1 P.M., Worthington Scranton Library)

Tomorrow at mid-day, before noon, we three (SRP, DWP I, DWP II) and a carfull of chickens will head out for Columbus, OHIO for the National Meet of the American Poultry Association. Much remains to be done, but none of the final preparations are unpleasant, by any means. I am still not certain which of the standard Partridge Plymouth Rock pullets I will take, nor have I selected the bantam Black Wyandotte pullet or cock. I may substitute one of the very nice young Black Wyandotte cockerels for "le pere," who is moulting very heavily. I'll know more this afternoon, when I will make my final decisions.

Unfortunately, several of the birds that I entered at Columbus will have to stay home because they are moulting: the standard B. B. Red Modern Game pullet, the standard Barred Rock hen, the standard Single Comb Black Minorca hen, the young pair of Golden Campines (although I may be able to take the cockerel). We shall see. I have put off making these final decisions until the last minute. Many things can change with show birds and it is safest to wait until the very last minute to select the birds that will go. Regrettably, one must enter the birds many weeks in advance, and in the period of time between the entry deadline and the packing up of the birds for the trip to the show many things can (and do) develop which affect one's decisions. It all balances out, mercifully.

Three or four of my birds are absolutely outstanding and have very good chances of winning big at Columbus. "Prince Bird," first of all, is back in top form, following his bout with a cold at York and then mites, which he picked up somewhere along the show circuit. His only fault is that a couple of his tail feathers are not in perfect condition. Otherwise, he is perfection. I would not be at all surprised to see him win Best of Breed and Champion American--and maybe more--at Columbus. The standard Black Orpington pullet is also in wonderful condition. She is laying now and will never be as vibrant and fresh and wonderful as she now is. As an old hen, she should be wonderful, but she will have a different aspect than she does now. I am also expecting her to take Best of Breed and Champion English. The young pair of standard Partridge Plymouth Rocks are beautiful and I am also thinking that one of them will be Best of Variety and Best of Breed and maybe more. The competition in the American class will be ferocious, to be sure, as it will be in all classes, but my birds have as good a chance of winning as anyone's--my four or five best birds are of excellent type and are in excellent condition, which, together are what one needs to have big winners. It is a very exciting possibility. A couple of dark horses, if one can speak of poultry with such a metaphor, are the young bantam Black Wyandottes. Three or four of the pullets that are dashing about the yard these days are absolutely beautiful, possibly more beautiful than the two older pullets that I showed so much during the earlier part of the show season. The problem will be to select the best of the three or four very likely contenders for the Columbus trip. The standard Australorp hen is also a beauty and could get Best of Breed; the standard Silver-Laced Wyandotte hen is very nice and I will take her to the show but I don't think that she will go too far. We shall see. I don't think that I will take my two Single Comb Rhode Island Red pullets either. They are both nice pullets but they are not outstanding birds. There will be battallions of beautiful Reds at Columbus and they would not be noticed in the show.

The feed and water arrangements during my three-day absence from the henhouse are all made. I have arranged extra (or larger) water cups in all necessary cages and I will put a large waterer in the open area. The extra feed will not be a problem: one simply has to put it out. The birds will not be able to eat it all on Thursday or Friday or Saturday. By Sunday, they will be looking for some more food and they will be ready for fresh water, but they will be fine.

Just now arrived at the Trueman Club Hotel in Columbus; we left Carbon-dale at 11 A.M. The drive out was difficult: heavy blinding rain and vicious wind. We took the birds from home in my car and then transferred them to the rental car at the Avoca airport, where my car is parked now. I am showing nine birds. We arrived at the Ohio State Fairgrounds at about 10:30 P.M. and got the birds in their cages without any difficulty. We fed & watered them and I "dusted off" a few of them. A quick guess is that "Prince Bird" will do fine in the competition. I think he is the best Rose Comb Red in the show and possibly the best "Red" if that is the case, he will be in a good position for a "big win" in the American class. Wouldn't that be wonderful. The Partridge Rocks also look good, as does the Australorp. I don't think the Black Australorp will go beyond "BB", however. The Black Orpington pullet will probably not be noticed - there are some very impressive "Whites" in the show. There are 490 exhibitors in the show - a veritable "who's who" of the American poultry scene. Tomorrow and the next day should be very exciting!

A completely satisfying experience in every respect. Many highs and some lows. The lows, first of all, were mostly related to the weather. The trip out was difficult, to say the least, because of strong winds and heavy/torrential rain. For several hundred miles I drove in the worst possible conditions for driving: rain, fog, wind, darkness, roads under construction (especially the Pennsylvania Turnpike). But we made it, safe and sound by about 10:30 P.M. and we got the birds into their cages and settled before repairing to the Hotel. We left home at 11 A.M. and drove, with the birds in the car, to the Avoca Airport, where I rented a beautiful Ford Tempo and into the rental car we loaded the birds and our luggage and then put my Renault in the airport car parking lot. It must have been the excitement of the whole event, but I drove the 10 hours out and back without any difficulty. The ten hours of driving was not a problem, but the conditions under which I had to drive were a major problem. On the way back, we had about an hour delay near Hazleton because the snow squalls in the higher elevations were melting and then quickly turning to ice on the roads. Near Hazleton, there were cars off the road everywhere. After we made it through Hazleton, it seemed like it would be clear sailing all the way home. It was not. We drove right to the airport and dropped off the car. No problem. We then got back onto Route 81 and headed North. A couple miles above the airport, traffic suddenly came to a halt. More ice on the roads, especially the bridges. The State Police, we later learned, had CLOSED the road because of the ice, and FOR ALMOST FOUR HOURS WE SAT IN A LINE UP OF TRAFFIC. I thought I would scream. After having driven about 480 miles and being that close to home and to have to endure a four-hour delay on the road. But live through it we three all did and the birds were under no stress so that was not a problem. We arrived at Carbondale after midnight. All was well in the barn, although the birds at home were very hungry and were very glad to see me. I fed them all and changed all the water dishes and got everything back to normal before going to bed, which I did about 2 A.M. I knew when I went to bed that I would not be able to get up at 6:30 and drive to Hazleton to teach my 10 o'clock class and when I got up about 9 A.M. I telephoned and cancelled the class. Enough of the "difficulties" of the trip.

DWP II was a perfect angel throughout the three-day adventure, and he had a grand time, as did DWP and SRP. I ran into dozens of people that I know and everyone was very friendly and cordial. On Saturday, Dan Schuth delivered the three standard Modern Games to me that I asked him to take to Columbus. That was a very pleasant exchange, as he is a nice guy. Glen Trone, from Pennsylvania, showed up, also on Saturday and I delivered the Golden Campine Cockerel to him. He was very pleased with the bird, as well he should be, because that bird is the bird that was Champion Standard at Bath this past Fall. The other Campine cockerel that I have is a better bird even though the one that I sold to Trone is in better show condition and hence more impressive. The barring on the cockerel that I have kept for breeding purposes is much better than the barring on the bird I sold to Trone. Trone is very happy and that's fine.

Beautiful birds everywhere at Columbus. I especially liked the standard White Wyandottes and the standard Orpingtons. My Black Orpington pullet was up against some stiff competition and placed 5th among the Black pullets. She looked great, but the others were older and larger. I was very impressed by the standard Orpingtons. Beautiful birds. I attended the United Orpington Club meeting on Saturday morning at 11 A.M. and that was interesting. Warren Tye is just the person to be the club secretary. There were about 10 of us at the meeting and that was enough. I sat next to C. W. and Edna Carey from Texas and they are very nice. I told them that I needed some new blood in my strain of Black Orpingtons and they suggested that I write to Cecil Moore in Texas, who has excellent birds. The Careys said that they would speak to Cecil Moore and tell him that I would be contacting him about some chicks. Excellent contact. Cecil Moore probably would not sell me the chicks if it were not for the Carey contact. Apparently the Careys and Cecil Moore live in the same county in Texas. I will write to Cecil Moore and order 25 standard Black Orpington chicks.

"Prince Bird" was clearly the best Rose Comb Rhode Island Red in the show but he was not recognized by the judge (John Thomforde) as such. He placed 3rd to some very mediocre birds that just happened to belong to the right man. It's sad but true that politics sometimes enters into the judging. The best R. C. R. I. R. belonged to Adrian Rademacher, who, like John Thomforde, both reside in the same area. I'm just guessing, but I'll bet some arrangement was made beforehand about the winning reds. Adrian Rademacher did have a very beautiful Single Comb Rhode Island Red cockerel, which was named Best Red and Reserve Champion American. Champion American was a crooked-toed and oddly-typed White Rock cockerel, which was a beautiful bird even though it did not look like a White Rock is supposed to look. I don't even remember who owns the bird, but I'm sure that the owner's name entered into the judging process. This is not sour grapes, by any means. But it does make one angry. All of the big deal Rhode Island Red breeders were there and they each were proclaiming the beauties of their own birds and putting down other peoples' birds. Such pettiness. Adrian Rademacher is a nice guy, although he is not endowed with the most outgoing personality that exists. He is too focused on winning. It affects adversely his personality. He did bring two Rose Comb Rhode Island Red pullets for me, as I requested, and we made the sale on Saturday morning. One of the hens is laying and that is wonderful. Both of the pullets will be housed with Prince Bird throughout the winter and spring. I should be able to get some very nice chicks from the trio.

My pair of Partridge Rocks, both young birds, were overshadowed by older and larger birds owned by Norman Enns from Maryland. He is a nice enough guy and his birds are nice, but so are mine. I, of course, was optimistic about my birds' chances of winning, but I was not at all crestfallen by their not winning. I think that Prince Bird should have surely been BV and probably BB; I also think that my Black Australorp hen should have been Best of Breed. No matter.

Ran into Don Krahe in the sales area and he was very enthusiastic in his thanks to me for my letter to him in which I told him how much I appreciated his professionalism as a judge. Gerald Donnelly, from Ontario, Canada, who judged at Bath this year, came up to me in the show room and told me that the Campine cockerel that I showed at Bath was the nicest Campine he had seen in years. Very nice of him to do so. Had many many pleasant encounters with fanciers: the Whitney Brothers from Bath, NY; Bill Tokar and a collection of people from the York show; Roger and Carol Voter; Frank Harris (from Virginia); Tommy Stanley; John Rebhahn; the Kanes; the Kustaborders; the Moreys; many others. At the APA General Membership meeting at the Trueman Club Hotel on Saturday night, Horst Grzemeil (APA Director from Canada) sat down next to me was very friendly. He was joined by a small collection of Germans and others. Very friendly in an old world kind of way. The APA meeting was very business-like. I was very surprised that there were so few people at the meeting--maybe about 75. Most of the people present were older poultry couples. Most all of the District Directors were there, including Ernie Durb, Charles Wabeck, Duane Urch, Horst Grzemeil, and others that I recognized. There seems to be a very in-group, old-guard clique that controls the organization and I have the feeling that it is very closed. I don't like the Secretary, Nona Shearer, at all. She is an air head/pig, with great pretensions about her. I am very glad I attended the meeting. It was very informative. Following the meeting, a social gathering took place in the lobby of the Hotel and I had a very pleasant meeting and conversation with Ed Morgold, a Director of the Ohio Poultry Breeders Association, and a terrific guy.

The Trueman Club Hotel portion of the trip was pure pleasure. Janice Glaser Carter arrived on Saturday morning and stayed Saturday night. She didn't have a very enjoyable time at the poultry show and I don't care. On Saturday night she went to a concert in Columbus with some old friends and stayed with them, to return on Sunday morning. DWP II had a grand time in the hotel: jumping from bed to bed, bathing, watching television, swimming in the pool, running in the halls with the other poultry kids. He will remember his trip to Columbus for many years to come. When we checked out of the Hotel on Sunday morning, I made reservations for next year's Ohio National, which will be a two-day show, November 13th and 14th, I think.

Dear Professor Powell:

Thank you for your letter expressing interest in the 18-month sabbatical replacement position our Department was advertising.

We wanted to let you know, however, that we have filled the position. The selection process was a difficult one due to many excellent candidates.

Again, thank you for your interest in Gettysburg College and we wish you much success in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Department of French

November 13, 1992

Dear Bob,

Just a personal note to assure you that although the outcome of the 18-month sabbatical leave position is not what both of us may have wanted, there was a positive side to your effort — that is, that some of your old university "buddies" (and I include Marianne Perper Broadwell and Larry along with myself) "found" you again and wish to be remembered to you. So now when we see each other, or Dr. Frey for that matter, we can at least answer questions in the affirmative.

It also may be of interest to you that my department received over 50 applications for the sabbatical leave position, and all seven members ranked the candidates themselves before bringing their choices to the whole department where we had to reach a consensus. As the "official" letter states, there were many good candidates who applied.

All of this may not be of any consolation to you, but since I'll be chair for three more years, I would like to keep you in mind for a possible adjunct position (if you'd be interested) to teach French Civilization and Culture. The person currently teaching the course commutes from D.C. for just that one course each spring semester. He has been doubting whether to continue or not. If you would be at all interested (it could be an "entrée" or foot-in-the-door), please let me know.

So glad to know you are back in Academe and not too far away from Gettysburg.

—mes amitiés,

Amie

FLYING TIPPLER ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA BULLETIN

November 16, 1992

S. Robert Powell, Secretary

RD #1, Box 40
Carbondale, PA 18407-9706

FROM THE SECRETARY

The two-year terms of all of the current FTA Officers and Directors will expire on December 31, 1992. Nominations, therefore, are now open for all Officers and Directors of the Flying Tippler Association of America for 1993-1994. A nomination form is enclosed. If you would like to make some nominations, fill out the enclosed nomination form and return it to the Secretary (address given above) before December 5, 1992. If you are interested in serving but are reluctant to place your own name in nomination, let me know and I will arrange to have you nominated.

When all nominations are in, I will contact all nominees to make sure that they are interested in serving and will serve if elected. An FTA BULLETIN, containing a 1993-1994 FTA Ballot, will be mailed out on December 18, 1992. All ballots are to be returned to the Secretary before December 31, 1992.

MEMBERSHIP DUES FOR 1993 ARE ALSO DUE AT THE BEGINNING OF THE NEW YEAR. Send your membership dues ($10) and 1993 band orders to the Treasurer: Walter Wiechec, 105 Clay Street, Buffalo, NY 14207.

Welcome to the following new FTA members: Fred Lanting, Chuck Parsons, Kerry Richardson, Larry B. Rothwell, Carl Schwartz, Lt. Col. Fred C. Smith, Neil Migliore, David Kallemeyn, Ronald J. Sloan, R. Omer Ogren, and Gary Hulst. Additional information about these new members and their birds will be presented in upcoming BULLETINS.

Many "Get to Know" forms and photographs have been forwarded to the Secretary by Jerry O'Rourke. Forms from the following members are all set to go and will be published in the BULLETIN in the coming year: Ray Slater, Tom Budano, Stanley Seibel, Dave Thomas, Howard Kogan, Michael Beat and Bela Kiss. A photograph of Tim Kvidera and his loft and a photo of Jerry O'Rourke and his loft are also all lined up for publication. If you have not yet sent in a "Get to Know Your Fellow Tippler Breeders" form and are interested in doing so, please contact Jerry O'Rourke.

DON'T FORGET: ALL NOMINATION FORMS MUST BE RECEIVED BY THE SECRETARY BY 12-05-1992.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

JERRY O'ROURKE'S REPORT ON THE FALL 1992 FTA SERIES FLYS I & II
(the report on the Fall Series Flies III & IV will be given in the next BULLETIN):

1992

FLYING TIPPLER ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA

FALL SERIES 1 - September 12/13
(Any Age)

OFFICIAL SYSTEM

F. Mirzaagha - (13:01) - A kit of 7 birds (OTU92 - 952, 953, 974, 978, 979, 989 and 992), sex not distinguished, released at 628AM. Fantail and Tumbler Droppers and Lights at 729PM. All birds down together at 731PM with last bird in trap at 740PM. Barometer at 102 KPA WEATHER: Partly cloudy, 18-22C, Barometer at 102 KPA Steady. Winds from South at 11 Km/H and Humidity 65%.

Timed by Navid Khalajabadi.

TIMER'S COMMENTS: Birds performed beautifully. No wind for first six hours. Last hour as it was getting closer to Sunset birds flew low and were waiting for the signal to drop.

HONOR SYSTEM

- H. Kogan - (8:47) - A kit of 5 birds (FTA92 - 853, 851, 856, 858 and 874) 1 Cock and 4 Hens, released at 7:44AM. Birds all down together at 4:31PM with no Dropping Signal and last bird in trap at 4:46PM.
WEATHER: Clear, cool, windy day. Temperature 45-68 Degree range. Barometer at 30.50. Winds from North at 10-15 MPH and Humidity at 80% at 7AM.
TIMER'S COMMENTS: Great day for flying - gusty winds in morning that quieted in afternoon. Birds flew medium high all day; they loved the weather, a brisk Fall day. Their best fly of Season - I'm pleased.
CENTRAL TIMER'S COMMENTS: Good job, Howard. Your birds are really coming along nicely. They should be even better for the next fly.
- T. Kvidera - (4:39) - A kit of 3 birds (FTA92 - 1258, 1261 and 1271) C.H. C, released at 6:18AM. Russian Tumbler droppers out at 10:58AM after birds dropped on their own at 10:57AM. Last bird in trap at 10:59AM.
WEATHER: Partly cloudy, 61-66 Degrees, Barometer at 29.75. Winds from SE at 15-30MPH and Humidity 60-75%.
TIMER'S COMMENTS: Somewhat disappointed but still not too bad for little feed-up, only second time out as a kit, first time up in early AM and being put up too heavy for the wind.
- G. O'Rourke - DISQUALIFIED. Kit of 3 birds (FTA92 - 238, 502 and NFA92-AM177) released at 7:07AM and birds all down together at 2:46PM but did not trap within the hour.
WEATHER: Clear day, 55-66 Degrees Barometer at 30.30. Winds from NE at 5 MPH and Humidity at 53%.
TIMER'S COMMENTS: Absolutely beautiful day for flying. Birds extremely high all day, but they gave out at 2:46PM. Birds are not completely through their molt. Hope to do better next fly.
- T. Murphy - CENTRAL TIMER'S COMMENTS: Tom sent me a very nice letter stating that his birds are in heavy molt and he could not fly them this past week. He will try again next time. I thank you, Tom, your efforts are appreciated and I hope that you will be able to get your birds in the air shortly.

FALL SERIES 11 - Sept. 26/27

(Any Age Birds)

HONOR SYSTEM

- T. Mirseyedi - (9:11) - A mixed kit of 3 birds (FTA91-1039, FTA92-626 and 633, Cock, Cock and Hen released at 9:19AM. Droppers out at 6:30PM and first bird down at 6:32PM and other two at 6:36PM with last bird in trap at 6:38PM.
WEATHER: Cloudy, temperature at 77 Degrees, Barometer at 30.01 with Winds from NNE at 7 MPH and Humidity at 74%.
FLYER'S COMMENTS: Due to heavy rain early in the morning, I could not release my birds until 9:19AM. Weather stayed cloudy all day, but not anymore rain.

Birds flew at medium height and did not rake much.
 CENTRAL TIMER'S COMMENTS: Good fly considering the weather. This puts Tony's name in 14th place in the Top 20, Honor System, for this particular Series.

- H. Kogan - (4:55) - A kit of 5 young birds FTA92 - 851, 853, 856, 858 and 874) One cock and 4 hens released at 651AM and birds all came down together at 1146AM with last bird in trap at 1202PM.
 WEATHER: Foggy, very cloudy, Temperature 60-68 degrees, Barometer at 30.20F, Light breeze and humidity at 93-100%.
 FLYER'S COMMENTS: Birds did not want to fly in this heavy pea soup. Stayed low - a dreary off day for both the weather and the birds.
 CENTRAL TIMER'S COMMENTS: Nevertheless, a good fly, Howard, under these circumstances, and this puts your name in 18th place in the Top 20 for this Series.

- F. Mirzaagha - DISQUALIFIED - A kit of 9 birds (OTU(92) - 952, 953, 974, 976, 978, 979, 989, 992 and 993) released at 645AM with Lights and Fantail and Tumbler Droppers out at 710PM. Disqualified because birds did not drop after sunset. A flock of Starlings panicked them and as it got darker the birds flew higher and did not come back.
 WEATHER: Mostly cloudy, 14-18 Degrees C, Barometer at 102.17 KPA Falling, Winds at 11 Km/h, from Southeast and Humidity at 72%.
 FLYER'S COMMENTS: Birds flew exceptionally well until about 6PM when it began to drizzle and became foggy, then they flew low and I threw for them at 710PM, but because of the huge number of Starlings, they panicked and went high and never came back.
 CENTRAL TIMER'S COMMENTS: I hope that these birds returned the next day. Also, please note that Rule 1 states "Each flyer to fly minimum of three (3) to a maximum of seven (7) Tipplers in "FTA" Competition excluding the Stook Fly where a minimum of eight (8) birds are required."

- A. Rejabnik - DISQUALIFIED - A kit of 6 birds (FTA92 - 2402 and 2403; FTS92-1336, 1310, 1311 and 1322) Mixed Sex released at 740AM and Roller and Nun Droppers put out at 220PM. Two birds down at 223PM, three birds down at 224PM and FTA92-2402 lost to Hawk in the last hours of the fly. Disqualified because one bird lost to Hawk at around 130PM (when first realized him gone.) Birds very wet and I decided to drop them before losing another to Hawk.
 WEATHER: Cloudy, Rain all day, calm winds, temperature 70 Degrees and Humidity at 90%.
 FLYER'S COMMENTS: Did not want to fly because it was raining and Hawks have started early this year - Also all the birds were in molt and not in condition at all, but with all the problems I still decided to fly for the sport of it. It looks like I am going to have to lock them up until Spring.
 CENTRAL TIMER'S COMMENTS: All, under the circumstances you list, I think your birds did very well. I am sorry you lost a bird to a Hawk.

- G. O'Rourke - A complete washout for this weekend - unable to fly my birds.
 T. Kvidera - A note from Tim stating that he would be in California on business and thus unable to fly his birds.

Humanities 001: Dr. S. R. Powell

RICHARD III

Shakespeare's KING RICHARD THE THIRD was written most probably between 1588 and 1594. The historical events referred to the play took place in the fifteenth century during the Wars of the Roses (May 22, 1455, Battle of St. Albans--August 22, 1485, Battle of Bosworth Field).

Fourteen years of historical events have been masterfully compressed, "revised" and structured by Shakespeare into a unified, coherent and dramatic presentation in which those 14 years of events appear to be a single continuous action. ("Life/reality" is re-structured into "art".) Those historical events:

- 5/23/1471 funeral of Henry VI, last of the Lancaster kings
- 2/18/1478 murder of George, Duke of Clarence
- 4/9/1483 death of Edward IV, first of the York kings
- 6/16/1483 Richard III becomes King of England
- 10/1483 insurrection of Duke of Buckingham
- 8/22/1485 invasion of Earl of Richmond (Henry Tudor) and Battle of Bosworth Field, in which Richard III is killed. Henry Tudor becomes King of England (Henry VII, first of the Tudor kings)

The WARS OF THE ROSES were fought between the House of Lancaster (red rose) and the House of York (white rose). The Lancaster kings are Henry IV, Henry V, and Henry VI. The York kings are Edward IV, Edward V, and Richard III. The Wars of the Roses took place during the last 30 years of the Plantagenet dynasty. The Plantagenets were the ruling family of England for 331 years (1154--1485). There were 14 Plantagenets who were kings of England.

Richard III is a diabolically powerful archvillain. He is a person of incredible energy, whose intense will shapes and brilliantly controls his world and events according to his own designs. He puts his own intense will against all other forces that might normally determine events. Not until almost the end of the play is there a sign of a possible antagonist. No visible secular force, it seems, can stop Richard. The Earl of Richmond is not even mentioned until Act IV and he appears only in the last three scenes of the play. He appears almost as a "deus ex machina" to resolve the action of the play. In KING RICHARD THE THIRD moral disorder reigns until the final scene of the play. It can not be permanent, says Shakespeare (implicitly). It must brought down, and at the end of the play, evil is punished.

In the course of Shakespeare's play, we learn that Richard has slaughtered:

- his cousin (Henry VI)
- Henry VI's son, Prince Edward
- his own brother, the Duke of Clarence
- his nephews, the child King, Edward V, and Richard, Duke of York
- his wife, Lady Anne

AND YET, we the readers of Shakespeare's play are attracted to Richard. We are on his side. He is a magnificent evildoer, with great verbal and intellectual agility. He is a witty, sly, and smooth operator. He speaks to us, the readers (spectators) throughout the play. We become co-conspirators with Richard. We are with him. It can be argued, because he appeals to the dark side of human nature. We are attracted to Richard, it can be argued, because there is a propensity in us for evil-doing, just as there is in us, it can be argued, a propensity for doing good. In studying Shakespeare's KING RICHARD THE THIRD we confront head on the fundamental and perennial question: How do we (how can we, how should we), as human beings, live our lives?

Richard is a gleefully aggressive evil-doer who is simultaneously playwright, director, actor (star).

Mr. Bill Wulff
943 North My Lane
Connersville, IN 47331

Dear Bill:

I think that I'm just about back to normal following the Columbus show. On our way home in the car, my twin brother and I were talking about the show and we were comparing notes on what birds we had admired in the show and we both came to the conclusion that even three days is not enough time to take in a show of the size of the Columbus show this year. With the many obligations that you surely have at such a show, I'll bet there were birds that you wanted to see but just didn't have the time to look at them.

I'm writing to present an idea that you may want to consider. What do you think of the idea of a regular column from me in POULTRY PRESS? The column, I promise you, would not be overly long. If you would like, I could write it on a monthly basis, I would like to call the column, JUST FOR THE RECORD.

Enclosed is a sample of the kind of column I would like to write for POULTRY PRESS. You will probably recognize the material in this sample column as a portion of the much-too-long article that I sent you about a year ago.

Whatever your decision, just let me know. If the answer is a yes, I'll keep you well supplied with material.

Happy Thanksgiving to you and your family.

Best regards,

S. Robert Powell

JUST FOR THE RECORD By S. Robert Powell

The names of many breeds and varieties of exhibition poultry are easy to spell and to pronounce, even though the birds in question originate in far away villages, cities and countries around the world: Hamburgs, Cubalayas, Polish, Anconas, Minorcas, Dorkings, Javas, Cochins, Brahmas, Sumatras, Malays, and so on. Other breeds and varieties, however, are not so easy when it comes to spelling and to pronunciation.

Two breeds of bantams from Belgium are the source of a lot of spelling and pronunciation problems: ANTWERP BELGIANS and UCCLE BELGIANS.

Antwerp ("Anvers" in French, "Antwerpen" in Flemish) is a city in northern Belgium. Uccle ("Ukkel" in Flemish) is also a city in Belgium. It is south of Brussels, not far from Waterloo. The bantams from those two cities should be called, in English, Antwerp Belgians or Uccle Belgians.

In French, the word for Belgians is "Belges." These bantams, in French, would, therefore, be called "Belges d'Anvers" or "Belges d'Uccle." The word "de" (or "d'" when it comes before a vowel) means "from" in French, and it would never be capitalized in this context.

Many people, it seems, use the term Belgians to refer to Antwerp Belgians. But to do so is an imprecise use of terminology, because there is more than one kind of bantam from Belgium. In addition to Antwerp Belgians, there are, for example, Uccle Belgians.

The name Uccle is not an easy name to pronounce in French, granted. A rough approximation in English phonemes might be "OO KLA." Uccle is not pronounced like the English word

"uncle," to be sure, and Uccle Belgians should not, therefore, be called "de uncles," as many people call them.

The popularity of these two kinds of Belgian bantams, both of which are ranked among the 16 most popular breeds of bantams in America, is such that there are currently 14 varieties of Antwerp Belgians recognized by the APA and the ABA: Black, Blue, Cuckoo, Mille Fleurs, Mottled, Porcelain, Quail, Self Blue, White, Black Breasted Red, Blue Quail, Buff, Buff Columbian, and Columbian.

There are 10 recognized varieties of Uccle Belgians: Black, Blue, Buff, Golden Neck, Gray, Mille Fleurs, Mottled, Porcelain, Self Blue and White.

Dear Mr. Moore:

I made the acquaintance of C. W. and Edna Carey at the United Orpington Club meeting in Columbus, Ohio last Saturday. We talked about Orpingtons, naturally, and I mentioned that I was trying to find someone who had standard Black Orpingtons who would sell chicks. The Careys suggested that I contact you.

I would like to get 25 standard Black Orpington chicks. I'll take them whenever you can supply them--a month from now or six months from now. It makes no difference to me.

A stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Is it possible that you will have chicks for sale this winter/spring? Let me know about prices, and I will send payment well in advance.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

Effort Would Be Monumental

A 200-foot-high smokestack from the old Underwood Colliery in Olyphant — the most prominent relic of a mining operation that once employed 1,800 men — stands like a lonely sentry overlooking the Midvalley.

If the owners of the Mid-Valley Industrial Park have their way, they will implode the smokestack to clear the ground for industrial prospects. Indeed, they already have plans to do that.

However, if Joan Dutka, an Olyphant housewife and former councilwoman has her way, the smokestack will be saved as a reminder to future generations of their mining heritage.

The Underwood Colliery — once a state-of-the-art operation of Pennsylvania Coal Co. — opened in the early 1920s and thrived for years.

The Underwood development was a model of what a conscientious firm could do. Many the workers lived in the village that sprang up around the mine. The homes were a cut above those in older company-owned towns. There even were areas set aside for recreation for the workers and their families.

However, the demand for coal diminished sharply after World War II, as oil and gas grew in popularity. The Underwood operation, down to 300 workers, closed in 1953.

The colliery rusted away and nature reclaimed those parts of it that strip mining missed. All that exists now is the smokestack from an engine house where steam was generated to pull cars, some carrying miners and some carrying coal, from the underground tunnels.

Mining Relic

Mrs. Dutka would like the smokestack to be saved as a free-standing relic of the glory days of anthracite mining and a monument not just to miners, but their families, too. "I don't want a park that needs maintenance or anything like that," she said, adding, "There could be a gravel walk leading up to it and a bronze plaque on it to give a brief history of Underwood."

Owners of the industrial park want to implode the smokestack to make the site suitable for new industrial tenants. The park now has WEA Manufacturing Specialty Records as its major tenant, plus smaller operations, but it still has plenty of room to expand into the area where the smokestack now stands.

Mrs. Dutka has scored one little victory so far. She got the Olyphant Council to delay the implosion of the smokestack until it can gather independent information on its condition.

To that end, it retained an engineering firm to look at the smokestack and it made a preliminary finding that the top 10 feet has mortar that needs to be repaired.

However, Mrs. Dutka thought it would be best to have the smokestack examined by experts who specialize in such things. A spectator at a Council meeting, Wasi (Batch) Piessechko, provided her with the name card of Gerard Chimney Co., St. Louis, Mo., a firm which has for years been taking care of chimneys at Scranton Lace Co., where he once worked. She called that firm and a spokesman said an expert would be flown here at no charge to examine the smokestack. She is now waiting for that to happen.

Expenses Plan

In the event the smokestack has to be repointed and capped, Mrs. Dutka has a plan to cover such expenses.

Olyphant has its own electric plant that buys electricity from Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. and then sells it to the residences, businesses and other customers. In a dispute over prices, the people of Olyphant won a judgment of $40,000 against PP&L, which is payable in monthly increments of $242 to customers. Mrs. Dutka wants the council's electric committee to ask residents in their January bills if they would agree to divert the refunds from PP&L to the smokestack project. "I've already talked to a lot of people and have yet to get a negative answer," she said.

However, all Mrs. Dutka's efforts could come to naught if the owners of the industrial park insist on imploding the smokestack. It is, after all, on their land.

However, she hopes park owners could be convinced that saving the smokestack might be useful to them. It could be woven into landscaping being planned for the park, giving it an interesting historical centerpiece that might prove useful in marketing.

Mrs. Dutka said if the smokestack can be capped and repaired, it would need no other maintenance. As for its safety, she said: "It will stand until the next Ice Age."

AAUP Criticizes Colleges' Reliance on Part-Time, Temporary Teachers

By Carolyn J. Mooney

WASHINGTON

The growing use of part-time and temporary faculty members is hurting the quality of higher education and the tenure system, according to a report released last week. The report, by the American Association of University Professors, was the AAUP's latest attempt to call attention to an issue it has complained about for years.

The report strongly criticizes the academy's heavy reliance on faculty members who are not eligible for tenure. As it has in the past, the association calls upon colleges to limit sharply the proportion of non-tenure-track jobs—a goal it admitted would be difficult to attain in tough budget times. It also urges institutions to establish better job security and working conditions for people who hold such jobs.

1987 EDUCATION DEPT. SURVEY

Part-time faculty members made up 38 per cent of the nation's professoriate in 1987, an Education Department survey found. Together, part-time faculty members and full-time instructors who are not in the tenure system make up about half of the entire professoriate, the AAUP report says. The proportion of part-timers ranges from about 17 per cent at elite research universities (a figure that does not include teaching assistants) to 52 per cent at community colleges.

"This report tries to give more teeth to the AAUP's previous recommendations," said Linda Ray Pratt, the association's president and a professor of English at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. "We've been warning now since 1980 about the deleterious effects of the growing use of part-time faculty members."

Actually, the association began warning about the situation even earlier. It has long maintained that the heavy use of non-tenure-track instructors—who are paid less and are less likely to have advanced degrees than professors in tenure-track jobs—hurts education. They note that non-tenure-track instructors frequently are not involved in major curricular debates, don't receive thorough job evaluations, and are more likely to teach introductory courses.

The association first examined the problem of non-tenure-track faculty members in a 1969 report. In 1980 it issued a report that criticized the growing use of part-time faculty members. A 1986 report took a fresh look at full-time, non-tenure-track professors.

NEEDED FLEXIBILITY

Many institutions defend the practice of hiring non-tenure-track professors, saying it gives them needed flexibility. But the AAUP has long maintained that converting such jobs to full-time, tenure-track slots would be fairer to professors and improve the quality of education. It argues that colleges should hire non-tenure-track instructors only in rare instances—

Dwp & SRP are "adjuncts" at PSU & LCCC.

Personal & Professional

prepared by a committee that focuses on non-tenure-track faculty members. Among its recommendations:

- The amount of campus instruction assigned to part-time and non-tenure-track faculty members should be limited to 15 per cent.
- When the use of non-tenure-track professors is justified, campuses should create policies that give them long-term contracts, comparable pay and benefits, and the chance to earn tenure and be appointed to full-time jobs.

PH.D. 'GLUT' CITED

The AAUP report cites a study that found that recent Ph.D. recipients were much less satisfied with part-time faculty jobs. Campuses have often cited a Ph.D. "glut" as the reason for a tight faculty job market in the early 1980's, Mr. Benjamin noted.

"There were faculty jobs, but institutions were deliberately filling them with less qualified people," he said.

Data from the Education Department's 1987 survey found that the vast majority of non-tenure-track faculty members were not seeking full-time posts. But just because many part-timers do not want full-time jobs doesn't mean colleges shouldn't create more of them, Ms. Pratt said.

"I do not think large numbers of part-time employees is good for the stability of higher education," she said.

Copies of the report, "The Status of Non-Tenure-Track Faculty," are available for $2.50 each from the AAUP, 1012 14th Street, N.W., Suite 500, Washington 20005; (202) 737-5900.

AAUP ATTORNEY FOR THE CHRONICLE
Linda Ray Pratt of the American Association of University Professors. "This report tries to give more teeth to previous recommendations."

when there is an unexpected enrollment surge, for example.

Ms. Pratt said the proportion of part-time instructors might have grown since 1987, the latest year for which federal statistics are available. During the recession, some colleges have cut their budgets by dismissing part-timers so they could avoid laying off permanent professors. But at the same time, some have filled vacant faculty slots with part-time rather than full-time professors (The Chronicle, August 7, 1991).

Humanities 001: Dr. S. R. Powell
Quiz on Shakespeare's play about Richard III

1368

Part I: Fill in the blanks.

The exact title of Shakespeare's play about Richard III is -1-. The play, in -2- acts, was written in -3- (name the language) by Shakespeare, most probably in the time period -4-. The monarch of England during the time when the play was written was -5-, who was a member of the -6- family. The 14 years of historical events referred to in the play took place in the -7- century, during the final years of the -8- year (how many years) period, during which the ruling monarchs of England were all members of the -9- dynasty. In all, there were -10- kings of England who were members of that royal family.

During the final 30 years of that dynasty's control of the crown, civil wars broke out between the descendants of the fourth and fifth sons of Edward III for control of the crown. Those wars are known as the -11- and they took place in the time period -12-. The descendants of the fourth son, John of Gaunt, are known as the House of -13-, and their symbol is the -14- rose. The descendants of the fifth son, Edmund Langley, are known as the House of -15-, and their symbol is the -16- rose.

Richard III was a descendant of the -17- son of Edward III, and before his accession to the throne, he was known as the Duke of -18-. In the course of Shakespeare's play, we learn that Richard III caused the death of no less than -19- persons in order to become king. He was King of England for two years, beginning in -20- and ending in -21-, with his death in the Battle of -22-, which took place in -23-. The victor in that historic battle was -24-, the first of the -25- monarchs (what dynasty) of England.

Part II. Write a one-paragraph summary/description of Shakespeare's play about Richard III. Your summary/description need not be overly detailed, but it should present the basic facts and plot outline so that someone who has never read the play would be able to understand what the play is all about.

Dear Ed,

I enjoyed the Speckled Sussex bantam conversation on Saturday night at the Trueman Club hotel. I wish I could remember everything that you and your colleague (Roland Blockberger?) said about them. They are very impressive birds, to be sure of all the birds in the ^{Columbian} show, I was most impressed by the Speckled Sussex bantams and the standard White Wyandottes and the standard Orpingtons.

I used to think that I knew a little about genetics and breeding, but after listening to you talk about genetics and breeding, I don't think I know very much at all. Maybe I've just been lucky. I mate together two birds that together embody the qualities (or the potential for particular qualities) that I want to achieve. Sometimes it works and sometimes it doesn't. This past year has been a very good one in the show room and I have great plans for the coming year, naturally.

I knew when I met you that your name sounded familiar to me, but I didn't know where I had read it or heard it. When I got home and began organizing the mountain of papers and poetry materials on my desk, I had one final look at the OPBA Poetry Press insert on the 1992 Offis National before filing away the insert, and there you are, one of the top guns of the OPBA! "well look at that," said I to myself, "this is the guy I had the speckled Sussex conversation with at Columbus!"

As I say, the conversation was a pleasure — and so was the 1992 Offis National. My thanks to you and to 1372 4.

the entire Ohio Pony Breeder's Association for the hundreds of hours of dedicated and hard work that you all put in to make this year's Ohio National the grand success that it was.

Sincerely,
S. Robert Powell

Dear Mr. Eckhard,
I was pleased to see your American Game at Columbus last week.
Ordinarily, I show at least a pair at every show I enter. I guess I must have decided not to show any because of the $2.50 entry fee per bird.

Most people have never seen American Game bantams and they regularly attract attention when I show them. A few guys have gotten birds or eggs from me, so maybe we will see more American Games around in the future.

I have two objectives for my 1993 breeding program with B.B. Red American Game bantams: (1) improve the stippling in the females; and (2) breed for smaller sized birds. The American Game hens are excellent setters and I use them not only to hatch their own eggs but also to hatch & raise standard Orpingtons and Rocks.

You may have seen the article on American Games that I wrote that was in Poultry Press in the June 1992 issue.

Sincerely,

Robert Powell

Dear Warren,

I enjoyed the UOC meeting at Columbus, and it was a pleasure to make your acquaintance.

You have done a great deal to revive the UOC and those of us who are interested in Orpington are very much indebted to you. Thank You for all that you have done & are doing.

It was also nice to make the acquaintance of C. W & Edna Carey. I need to get some new blood into my line of standard Black at the UOC meeting, you mentioned that we should send you ^{for ALL-ORP} our show wins on Orpington. Here are some of my 1992 wins with standard Black Orpingtons:

- 1) Buffalo & Western New York
Poultry Association Show, Batavia, NY, 5-17-92

-- Champion English on a Black Orpington cock

- 2) Finger Lakes Feather Club Show, Syracuse, NY, 6-7-92

-- Champion English on a Black Orpington hen (photo in Poultry Press in September 1992, p. 23)

- 3) Harford Agricultural Society Fair, Harford, PA, 8/17-22/92

-- Champion Clear Color standard male on a Black orpington cock

- 4) Twin Tier Poultry Club Show, Bath, NY, 9-13-92

-- Champion English and Third Best Standard in the show on a Black orpington hen

- 5) Rochester Poultry Association Show, Mumfords, NY, 10-4-92:

-- Reserve Champion English on a Black orpington pullet

- 6) Garden State Poultry Fanciers' Association Show, Flemington, NJ, 10/17-18/92

-- Champion English on a Black orpington hen

- 7) York County Poultry Fanciers' Association Show, York, PA, 10/24-25/92

-- Champion English on a Black orpington pullet

It was a good year. Now I have to get busy and raise some "Champions" (I hope) for next year's show.

Best regards,
Robert Powell

Dear Dan —

Thanks again for transporting the three Gamers to Columbus.

Dave Sherrill judged the standard Modern Gamer and he remarked when he saw the three Gamers in the cage from you: "Those are the Gamers that should be in the show. They're better than any of the birds in the show in 'Modern Gamer'."

Three or four guys wanted to buy them and I explained that I was only the middle-man etc.

B.B. Red Modern

My pullet is just about ready to start laying and I am going to raise as many as I can.

after having been to a poultry show just about every weekend for the past couple months, it seems very strange to be home on a Saturday. There is much to be done "up at the barn," however, in order to produce the eggs from which next year's "Champions" will hatch (I hope.).

Dear Bill —

Thanks again for transporting my plastic bucket and supplies to Columbus. I appreciate it.

After having been to a poultry show every week end for the past couple months, it seems very strange to be home on a Saturday. There is much to be done "up at the barn," however, in order to produce the eggs from which next year's "Champions" will hatch.

Thanks again to you and the core group at York who put in all those long hours to make this year's York show the great success that it was. The York show is one of my favorites, and I always look forward to it.

Sincerely,
Robert

During the past two hours, in a fit of "home and hearth" energy, I "put up" two quarts of Red Beet Eggs, made a Mince Pie with a quart of my own green-tomatoe mincemeat, and made an Indian Pudding (now baking its $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours at 300°F). Complex aromas fill the house and they are wonderful. It's a pre-Thanksgiving aromatic splurge & it's not the first time I have indulged in such pleasures. On Friday of last week, Keith Baisten came and picked up the three wind-up clocks down-stair (actually, one is on top of the book case at the top of the stair) and has repaired them. He called today and said that 1384 2.

he will drop them off tomorrow afternoon — which is grand. I will pay the repair bill, as it was my idea & initiative that has led to the repair.
I can hardly wait to hear them ring: the tall-case clock in the front parlor is an old one — from Albert Winter's "Aunt Bert" (maybe Bert & Albert were siblings; maybe she was his sister-in-law; family records would make the connection clear).
Then there is the wall clock, which Mom calls "the kitchen clock," as that was where it was when she was growing up here. And the mantle clock at the top of the stairs.

I can't recall the provenance of it. But an old house such as this ought to be filled with the sound of ticking and striking clocks, just as it should be filled with the smells of baking pies and puddings. Eventually, of course, we will all hear the clocks strike every time they do.

Before long, we will not be too conscious of them ringing & we will notice when one doesn't ring as it should. I am very anxious to hear what they sound like. It has been many years since any of them worked.

Dear John,

The spangler on the speckled Sussex pullet that I have from you are not, I regret to say, pure white. They are slightly streaked with a grayish-black, although not overly so. She is in a heavy moult at present, however, so it is anyone's guess what the final product will be. One thing for sure, you will get a chance to check her out again at the Finger Lakes show in June '93 where, I'm quite sure, she will be Champion English! (If she beats one of my orpingtons, she will be Sunday dinner upon her return from Syracuse.)

The Speckled Sussex cockerel that I have from you, on the other hand, appears to have very beautiful snowy white spangles. Do the males tend to have whiter spangles than the females? My Speckled Sussex cockerel is a veritable horse and he will, I'm sure, get even bigger. He will doubtless be as large as a standard Plymouth Rock when he is fully mature.

Following the APA meeting at the Trueman Club Hotel on Saturday, I ran into John and Audrey Barna "at the party" and I told John how much I admired the Speckled Sussex bantams in the show. The owner of some of those bantam was standing nearby and over-heard my remarks and for about two hours a speckled Sussex "seminar" took place. Both exhibitors of the bantam in the show, as well as a Director of the Ohio Poultry Breeders' Association got involved in the conversation, and on & on it went. Very enjoyable. They seemed to think that I know a lot about Sussex when, as you know, I know almost nothing about them.

I had a grand time at Columbus, even though I had no big winners — not even a Best of Breed. Well, that's O.K. Next year, however...

The B. B. Red old English pullet that I got from you at Mumford is now laying well and she is exactly the bird I need to improve the stippling in my female American Game; also, her small size (compared to an American Game bantam) should result in smaller American Games (every couple of generations, mine tend to get too big).

My birds are all starting to lay well again. I guess it's time to dust off the incubator and have another go at it.

Best regards,
Robert

12/11/92 - the pleasure that I derive from the three striking clocks is immense.
I especially like to wake up in the middle of the night and hear the clocks strike.

11-23-92 Ringing/striking clocks once again fill the Homestead with a sound of "all is well." And each of the three has a different quality to its striking. The Seth Thomas Kitchen Clock has a very imperative aspect to its ringing, almost a military aspect to its rapid and somewhat brassy rapid-paced ringing/striking. Its pendulum is very measured and metronomic quality. The mantle clock has a textbook perfect tic-tock quality to it; its striking is very majestic and deep-throated, somewhere between baritone and base — which seems surprising, considering the fact that it is small when compared to the others.

The tall-case clock has a very relaxed and non-hysterical quality to it. Its pendulum moves in a very measured but gentle way. Its striking is the most elegant sounding of the three. Its pendulum moves slowly and to watch it you would think it might stop at any moment - but on and on it goes.

The pleasure that the three of them give me is immense. It's comparable to the pleasure that I derive from watching clothes blow in the wind on a clothes-line.

11/26/92 - Thanksgiving 1992. Everything was as it should be. Cousin Peg and DWPTI and Mom + Dad and DWP + SRP celebrated the day in the most traditional manner:

- Roast turkey and stuffing
- mashed white potatoes & gravy
- baked sweet potatoes
- mashed rutabaga
- peas
- Cranberry bread } made by Peg
- nut bread } from her mother's
- Brown Bread ("Betty's") recipe
- green & black olives & sweet pickles
- jellied cranberry sauce
- "suet" pudding & coffee

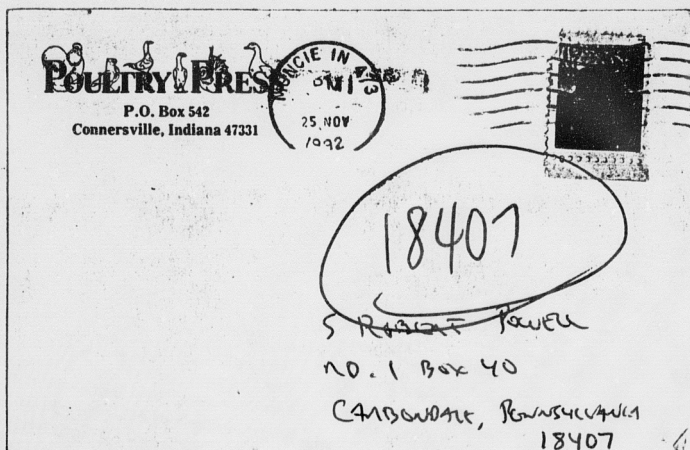

We ate at about 1 P.M. Mom's best China & silver & linen. When the dishes were all done, Peg & DWPTI + II & SRP took our traditional walk "around the golf course."

11/27/92 - More on the three striking clocks: ① "the grandfather clock" in the front parlor belonged to Uncle Albert's Aunt Bert (mom's sister, Louise, married Albert Winter; Albert Winter's father's brother, Frank, married Bert, and they lived in Carbondale). When Aunt Bert's apartment in Carbondale was being closed, Ora Russell "got" the grandfather clock (possibly bought), about 1950, and Aunt Louise "got" the Channing Wall Clock that now hangs in Peg's dining room ② the mantle clock at the top of the stairs belonged to Mary Emma (Squire) Loomis; ③ the Seth Thomas wall clock was "always here in the kitchen" said mom.

Devoted about six hours today to cleaning in the hen house: new "shavings" in all cages, new straw in all nests, cleaned floor in "milk house" and "entrance hall," took manure out and spread it on the fields, gave the birds some "sulfa" medicine to get rid of the "greens" that several of them have; cleaned out all water cups. Very satisfying. Mercifully the air is not so damp and downright wet as it has been for several days — and no sun. Dampness is the major winter problem to be avoided in the hen house and damp, sun-less days make it a bit difficult to stay ahead of the dampness. But all is well now.

Dear Robert,

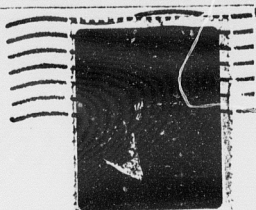

Yes, you can have a monthly column.

If you would like a picture or some do on then column head, you are welcome to do do. Columbus was tremendous and I didn't get to see Bud or talk to as many people and would have liked to do. Thanks. Bill
